Halloween And the Druids

Halloween, which is really Hallowe'en or holly eve, is also the eve of All Saints' Day.

All of it goes to prove how tenacious is the dark part of man's subconscious mind, which clings to the heritage of primitive days. It represents that mysterious force which moves in man's mind and soul when he smells wood smoke on some lonely road when there is none else on it but him and no human house in sight—something out of the days when his ancestors crouched in caves before new-learned fires and were afraid of the darkness. The huge beasts outside try to speak to him through the long years, and he seems to feel black wings brush his cheek.

Hallow Eve (which has come to be "Halloween") was an official compromise with paganism by one of the ancient popes, Gregory, the Fourth (935 A.D.), who combined many observances into one—All Saints' Day—in a successful attempt to bring some sort of order and sanctioned Christian character to many feasts of many qualities, by no means all Christian (as they are not today).

Traditions

The young man in the country who dislocates a privy and, with companions, carries it to the lawn of the church; or the youngster who writes with soap upon the windows of his neighbor's house likely will not realize they are carrying on the traditions of the Druids as practiced in ancient Gaul.

The early Christians, as a minority sect, were hard put to it to combat the pagan festivals.

What is now our Oct. 31 was especially troublesome. The primitives had a calendar of only 10 months. (Caesar modernized it in 46 B.C.) On the last day of the year, and the eve of the New Year, the Druids believed that Saman, Lord of Death, took council with himself as to what final disposition to make of the souls of those who had died during the year, and who, until the New Year, had been condemned to enter the bodies of animals to wait the judgment eve.

The ancients believed that on this eve Saman could be softened up and caused to dispense a more easy justice on these souls as they were extracted from the animals and sentenced for eternity. Hence there were feasts in his honor, and high carnival. There was the wearing of masks, too, so that Saman might not see a face he did not like and mark its wearer for death in the new year. So, prayer, supplications, feasts and merriment all were had to distract the judgments of Saman.

Roman Feast

Oct. 31 was also a Roman feast of Pomona, the goddess of fruit and of gardens. She appears in the writings of the earliest Latin poets. She was a cold and disdainful maid until wooed and won by Vertumnus, the god who ripens the fruits in autumn.

The various Christian sects themselves claimed all holidays that were being observed and, where possible, dedicated them to Christian worship. Nor did the early Christians seek to make them dry or lacking in merriment.

So they took over the celebration of the Druids' 'New Year's Eve and Pomona's feast, and wrapped them up as All-Hallow's Eve. This finally became Hallowe'en and, lastly, Halloween.

Something had to be done about the next day, which was celebrated as a New Year's day, and so this finally came to be called All Saints' Day. It was a catch-all day, in honor of no goddess, or god, but honoring all the saints of the early church.

Oddly enough, and a tribute to the toughness of the primitive tradition, Halloween is observed in many places as a memorial to those who have died during the year, which was exactly what the Druids made of it.

But, alack and alas, the primitive beliefs and early religious celebrations have degenerated into vandalism and a somewhat silly business of "trick or treat," which is a mild form of blackmail. The pagans actually were much less pagan.

Techmen Turned Out for High-Spirited Pep Rally and Bonfire at the Flats on the Eve of Saturday's Home-Coming Game

Old Grads Whoop It Up

Only the weather was frowning Friday as old grads began pouring into Atlanta and Athens and whooping it up for homecoming football games.

The weatherman's forecast of more rain Saturday failed to dampen alumni spirits at Georgia Tech and Georgia, who take identical 5-1 records into battle with Duke and Florida State University.

Not since 1948 have the state's major teams boasted such fine records at this stage of the season. Tech was 6-0 and Georgia 5-1 at this point in '48. The Bulldogs went on to a 9-1 record, won the Southeastern Conference championship and played in the Orange Bowl. Tech finished 7-3.

Already the Gator Bowl selection committee has both Tech and Georgia on its list of prospects for a Jan. 2 date. The Cotton Bowl has expressed an interest in the Jackets as a New Year's Day visitor.

Coach Bobby Dodd of Tech and coach Wally Butts of Georgia, however, know that bowl talk is a little premature and there are hurdles to be hurdled before the season ends. Right now that means Duke and FSU.

Although 2-4 for the season and victorious only once on Grant Field in the past 14 years, Duke is regarded as a dangerous op-

Goblins and old grads better grab their umbrellas Saturday because it's going to be a bit damp in and around Atlanta.

The weatherman predicts warmer weather and light rain for Atlanta and Athens, sites of homecoming football battles for Tech and the University of Georgia.

The same type of weather is slated for Sunday. Extremes predicted for Saturday are 52 and 60. Sunday's are 55 and 66. Friday's temperature extremes in Atlanta were 51 and 57.

Airliner With 30 Missing in Virginia

CHARLOTTESVILLE, Va. (AP)—A Piedmont Airlines DC3 carrying 27 passengers and three crewmen was reported missing Friday night in a 20-mile area between Charlottesville Airport and Rochelle.

Authorities said the plane's fuel would have been exhausted and that there seemed no chance it was still in flight.

State Police and the Civil Air Patrol launched a search but had heard no reports of a crash.

The plane's pilot radioed the Charlottesville tower about six minutes before the scheduled landing time here of 8:40 p.m.

The Piedmont flight 349 was last reported over Rochelle in Madison County, about 20 miles north of here. There was a scattered overcast but 10-mile visibility prevailed with a 1,000 to 1,500-foot ceiling.

The plane left Washington at 7:20 p.m. Over Rochelle, the pilot called Charlottesville airport for landing instructions.

Fourteenth Air Force headquarters at Macon, Ga., directed the CAP to begin a search for the plane.

CAP teams from Richmond and Staunton headed for the area. Other CAP units stood by an alert.

The area between Rochelle and Charlottesville is rural with much woodland but no mountains.

Vandiver Considers Bill To Force Funds To Earn

Gov. Vandiver Friday reported a "strong possibility" of legislation requiring the state to earn interest on bank deposits, as Corrections and Highway reorganization plans also made the news.

Vandiver said a subcommittee of the Commission on Economy and Reorganization is almost ready to submit its report on interest from idle funds.

At present, Georgia gets no interest on bank deposits, which at some periods of the year run as high as $80 million. Neither does it attempt to invest idle cash in short-term government securities.

An audit of the Highway department Thursday disclosed the agency at the end of the fiscal year had more than $36 million on deposit in banks throughout the state, drawing no interest.

Meanwhile Friday, Jim L. Gillis, highway board chairman said that the board already is carrying out 95 per cent of the recommendations approved Thursday by the Economy and Reorganization Commission.

He would not comment on the commission's suggestion for making a chief engineer, rather than the board, head administrative officer of the department.

But he did comment that "we

Fast Ruling Pledged by Top Court

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Supreme Court swiftly agreed Friday to hand down a ruling soon that will decide once and for all whether the United Steelworkers' union must call off its strike for 80 days.

The court, acting almost immediately after the union and government laid the case before it, also permitted the 500,000 striking Steelworkers to continue their 108-day-old strike until it hands down its decision.

The court ordered both sides to submit their briefs by Monday noon and scheduled oral arguments for 11 a.m., e.s.t., Tuesday. It set no time limit for each side to present its case, but the clerk's office said the lawyers would be given as long as they want

STILL DEADLOCKED

Meanwhile, in Philadelphia, top-level negotiators seeking to settle the long steel strike held their briefest meeting of the week Friday but reported the same results —"no progress."

The parties will resume talks at 10:30 a.m. e.s.t., Saturday. However, the industry agreed to meet Monday with Federal Mediator Joseph F. Finnegan in a renewed government attempt to end the 108-day walkout.

In their latest attempt to hammer out an agreement, industry and union met for only an hour and 20 minutes.

ARGUMENTS TUESDAY

The court acted with rare speed after the union asked it to kill the Taft - Hartley injunction against its strike and the government countered with an appeal that the high tribunal uphold the back-to-work order.

Fourteen minutes after receiving the government's petition, the court went into a 40 - minute closed - door conference. Shortly

Missing Witness Delays Probe of Cordell Tax Case

Joe Ray Sought for Dublin Jury

By JACK NELSON
Constitution Staff Writer

DUBLIN — A missing witness, sought on a felony warrant and a grand jury subpoena, slowed down the Laurens County Grand Jury investigation into the Cordell-Green sales tax case Friday.

The witness, Joe W. Ray, former state sales tax director, has been sought by the Fulton County sheriff's office for service of a Laurens grand jury subpoena since Wednesday.

The Georgia Bureau of Investigation began looking for Ray Friday after Laurens Sheriff Carlos Gay sent a telegram saying he had a warrant for Ray's arrest on a felony charge.

Sheriff Gay refused to reveal the nature of the charge and told newsmen he could give them no information about the warrant.

The telegram to the GBI was dispatched shortly after Gay was called before the Laurens grand jury Friday morning.

The grand jury recessed until 9 a.m. Saturday after hearing a dozen witnesses, including two newspaper editors, the state revenue commissioner, two assistant attorneys general and former special Fulton prosecutor Paul Cadenhead.

The GBI reported late Friday it had been unable to locate Ray.

Laurens Sol. Gen. Harold Ward said he thought Ray's testimony

McGill Talks To Dublin Rotary, Too

Constitution State News Service

DUBLIN — Constitution Editor Ralph McGill, who testified here Friday before a Laurens County Grand Jury in the Cordell-Green tax case, also spoke before the Dublin Rotary Club.

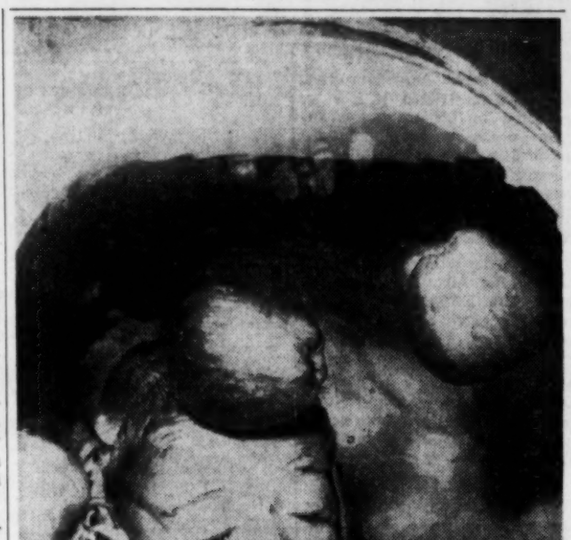

"It is flattering to have two invitations to speak in the same day," he said. "Unlike the television quiz shows, however, I have had no advance showing of questions and answers."

McGill spoke about his experience in Russia during the recent trip with Vice President Nixon.

He said he was impressed with the hospitality shown him in Dublin and he "hoped to return sometime soon without such an urgent invitation."

He was introduced by Bob Voelker, president of the Dublin Rotary Club. Jack Spalding, editor of the Atlanta Journal, was a special guest of the club.

Mr. McGill was invited to speak after he testified before the Laurens Jury.

TRICK OR TREAT!!!

Ghosts, Goblins Go 'Boo' Tonight

Oh, the ghosts'll come a-calling, and the spooks are all around,
And cats, when night's a-falling, walk on two legs 'cross the ground.
Look closely at the spectral scene, you'll get your chance tonight,
For the goblins call on Halloween, and you must show your fright.
Of course, the ghosts are three feet high, and spooks wear saddle shoes,
But better have that candy nigh, to pay the tricksters' dues.

—FRANK WELLS

During darker days of the past, the night before All Saints Day was called "Hallow Eve" and ghosts and goblins were supposed to be around tormenting mortals before all the saints got busy the next day.

Later, Halloween was marked with missing garden gates, tipped over backhouses, painted fences and other forms of malicious mischief.

In modern times, the only things that go "bump in the dark" are refrigerator doors as threatened grown-ups give up their bounty to toddling tricksters.

If a very small one lets out an unearthly screech, maybe he just scared himself.

For the younger generation especially, Halloween will be a red letter—or rather, a "trick or treat"—day as small fry take to the sidewalks. So watch out for ghosts and goblins, and all manner of masks designed to scare citizens into giving "treats."

Housewives Rally to Protest Atlanta Gas Rate Increase

A group estimated at at least 60, mostly housewives, appeared before the Georgia Public Service Commission Friday and urged that Atlanta Gas Light Co.'s bid for a rate increase be turned down.

The company is seeking a $8½-million-a-year increase. The company's vice president, Duncan A. Crawford, told the commissioners most of the increase, if approved, would go to pipeline suppliers.

Atlanta Gas Light, which serves Metropolitan Atlanta, Macon, Augusta, Athens and intermediate cities, said it would pass on $5.2 million to it's pipeline suppliers. The company says it needs the other $3.3 million to provide a "fair rate of return."

One of the protesters, J. Scott Walters, who appeared as a private consumer, urged the commission to "stop this inflation" by denying the increase. He said the gas company had "no God-given right to a profit."

Mrs. R. T. Aderhold of College Park, who said she was president of the Retired Teachers of Fulton County and also represented the Senior Citizens Club, said she was "pleading for our elder citizens" in asking for a rejection of the proposal.

Mrs. R. B. Giles charged "someone is trying to get rich by bleeding the public unmercifully."

Another woman, Mrs. L. M. O'Brien said her gas bills already range from $3.78 to $28.86 a month to heat her six-room home.

Crawford said the company didn't want to ask for the increase, "but we have no recourse but to pay this (pipeline) increase."

PSC Chairman Matt L. McWhorter said this was the first time since 1953 Atlanta Gas Light has asked for more than actual pipeline increases.

Jury Demands Crackdown On Alcohol Sales to Minors

By RICHARD ASHWORTH

Terming the sale of intoxicating beverages to minors "a serious problem," the Fulton Grand Jury Friday called for stringent enforcement by Atlanta and Fulton County authorities of existing laws.

The outgoing September-October term jury said it was "concerned primarily with the enforcement of existing laws" and made a number of recommendations for a crackdown on the illegal sale of alcoholic beverages.

"We have found that, insofar as the enforcement of the laws covering the illegal sale of intoxicants is concerned, there has been a noticeable lack of coordination of effort between the solicitor general's office and the Atlanta Police Department and/or the police committee," the jury declared.

In other recommendations on minors, the jury called for enactment of a teen-age curfew law by the Board of Aldermen, publicizing of crimes by juveniles age 15 and above, upping the age limit on driver's licenses from 16 to 18 and prosecuting offenders over age 16 the same as adults.

The jury also made a series of recommendations on the mental health problem in the Atlanta area, saying Atlanta is the only city of its size in the nation without any hospital facilities for the indigent mentally ill.

The grand jury called for a "prompt" remedial measure by the Fulton-DeKalb Hospital Authority to keep mental patients from being confined in the county jail. It asked that seven beds be added to Grady's 18-bed detention ward.

Condemning the "total lack of hospital beds for indigent mentally ill persons," the jury said this is despite the existence of a specially built psychiatric ward of 72 beds at Grady.

"The reason offered by the Fulton-DeKalb Hospital Authority for

Venus Space Probe Planned This Year

U.S. Rocket to Planet Itself Isnt Feasible Before 1961

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The Federal Space Agency hopes to fire a deep space probe as far as the orbit of the planet Venus in late December or early next year, it was learned Friday.

However, an attempt to send a rocket to Venus itself would not be feasible until the bright planet swings back into a favorable position in relation to the earth on or about Jan. 13, 1961.

The National Aeronautics and Space Administration (NASA) was expected to try to put a 375-pound probe into orbit around the moon late next month. If it is successful, it hopes to fire its Venus shot in December or early 1960.

NASA CORRECTS TALK

The agency's time-table became known after Allan B. Churgin, an engineer at NASA's Langley, Va., research center, said in a speech at Richmond, Va., that:

"Space exploration this year and early next year will see the launching of several dozen different satellites and probes to as far away as the vicinity of Venus, a distance of some 28 million miles."

NASA officials explained that Churgin should have said that the shot would be made to the orbit of the planet rather than to Venus itself.

SILENT ON MOON SHOT

At the time of the contemplated shot, it was noted, the planet will be in a highly remote part of its orbit around the sun and the rocket therefore will not pass near Venus itself.

NASA would not confirm the timetable for either the moon shot or the Venus-orbit shot. It merely cited an official statement last spring referring to "astronomical tables" indicating that June 1959, would be a favorable time to try to send an instrument package to Venus. The tables also indicated that the next suitable time would be in January, 1961.

Windsor Should Have Kept Throne And Ruled With Wally, Says Lord

TORONTO (UPI)—Lord Beaverbrook, an intimate of the Duke of Windsor, says the Duke made a mistake in abdicating to marry Mrs. Wallis Simpson because "the British people would have accepted her."

He commented on the Duke's marriage in a television interview at his Fredericton, New Brunswick, art gallery.

"The Duchess is a very fine woman," Beaverbrook said. "The criticism of her was not justified. The British people would have accepted her.

"I think the Duke (who was then King Edward VIII of England) made a mistake in running away from his responsibilities. Responsibility would have made him."

Beaverbrook, now 80, had promised to grant the interview five years ago. He promised another television interview when he is 85 and another when he is 90.

"I am going to live a long time, you know," said the millionaire publisher of Britain's Daily Express.

U.S. Warns Russia on Flying Flag

WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States publicly cautioned the Soviet Union Friday against the danger of disorders if Communist East Germans fly their hammer and sickle flags at West Berlin elevated railway stations.

U.S., British and French troops in West Berlin, it said, are prepared to take "any security requirements" which might arise if the flags are flown.

The State Department set forth the U.S. attitude in a statement recalling that fighting erupted between East Germans and anti-Communist West Berliners the last time the flags went up Oct. 6. That was to celebrate the 10th anniversary of the founding of the East German regime.

The Soviet-dominated East German regime has indicated it will fly the flags Nov. 7 in West Berlin to celebrate the anniversary of the 1917 Communist revolution in the Soviet Union.

West Hit By 92-Mile Gale, Snow

United Press International

The second wintry storm of the season howled across the Rocky Mountains Friday with a barrage of 92-mile-an-hour winds, snows rains and floods.

The storm was seeping eastward, promising snow and freezing rain from northern New Mexico and the central Rockies northeastward over western Kansas, western and extreme northern Nebraska, and parts of South Dakota.

Arizona, California and Colorado got the storm's first impact. Flash floods tore two children from their mothers' arms and swept them to their deaths in southern California. Calorado had up to 15 inches of snow.

Colorado's snows were not as severe as the record storm which hit Denver last month.

Mexico Fears 1,500 Deaths; Disease Hits Storm Victims

By JIMMIE S. PAYNE

MEXICO CITY (AP) — Mexico feared Friday night the death toll may reach 1,500 on the hurricane and flood battered Mexican Pacific Coast.

Survivors are being plagued by swarms of scorpions dislodged from nests uncovered by the violent destruction of adobe houses.

Even now the full picture of disaster and the painful aftermath of Tuesday's great blow is incomplete and each additional detail adds to an appalling panorama of misery.

ROADS DESTROYED

The stricken area was still isolated except for flights of light planes. Bridges, highways and railroads were destroyed by the storm.

Hunger and the threat of pestilence and disease brought new problems for survivors and rescue workers.

The mining town of Minatitlan was all but buried under earth and rock slides from the surrounding mountains that took the hurricane's full force. The port of Manzanillo was next hardest hit.

SCORPIONS RIFE

Colima state, heart of the stricken region, buried more of its dead and welcomed a trickle of relief supplies. Dazed survivors also had to keep watch against the scorpions.

"Thousands of people have been stung and need inoculations," said a report from Gov. Chavez Carillom. "Scorpions are everywhere."

The known death toll neared 500.

Flames Kill 7 Children; Sitter Saved

OTTUMWA, Iowa (AP)—Seven young children, trapped by fire inside a one-door house, died early Friday while their mothers were away at a private drinking club.

But a fireman's heroic determination saved their teen-aged baby sitter from a similar fiery death.

Fire Capt. Robert Knox groped through the fire and smoke filled two-room frame house three times before coming out with the 14-year-old baby sitter, Sharon Ann Dooley.

Sharon and the seven children, with whom she was left to sit in the home of Patricia Van Horne, 28, had sought safety in the kitchen as the flames swept toward them from the combination living room-bedroom.

Mrs. Van Horne, who is on relief, lost all six of her children—Karen Rae, 9, Sharon Kay, 7, Patty Sue 6, Leroy 4 Debra Ann 2 and Cynthia 1.

The seventh victim was a daughter Carla, 4, of Mrs. Van Horne's sister, Lorraine Campbell.

Permanent U.N. Watchdog Mission For Laos Is Torpedoed by Russians

By MILTON BESSER

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y. (AP)—The Soviet Union Friday torpedoed diplomatic efforts to put a U.N. mission in the Asian kingdom of Laos on a permanent basis. Laos has said such a mission would help counter a threat of Communist aggression from neighboring North Viet Nam.

A Soviet press release distributed at the United Nations denounced as unlawful any plans to station U. N. representatives in Laos permanently. It said the consequences would be "grave to the cause of peace in Southeast Asia and throughout the world."

Western diplomats, including the United States, were uncertain as to their next step. They had been seeking to establish a U. N. presence either through action by Secretary-General Dag Hammarskjold or the U. N. Security Council.

Diplomatic sources said they did not expect any move from Hammarskjold in view of the Soviet opposition.

They added that the Soviet Union would undoubtedly veto any proposal in the Council for a permanent mission in Laos. In that event Western diplomats would have to take the issue to the 82-nation General Assembly.

No decision was anticipated until the Council's four-nation subcommittee issues its first report—probably sometime early next week.

Informed sources said the report would detail the activities of the representatives of Italy, Argentina, Japan and Tunisia in Laos, but contain no conclusions or recommendations.

These sources said that from the facts set out in the report there would be an indication of Communist aid to the rebel forces in Laos, but no evidence of aggression.

Anti-Whites Recruiting in N.Y. Prisons

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP)—A core of Negroes in at least three state prisons is trying to get other Negroes inmates to join an anti-white movement under the banner of "The Muslims," the State Correction department said Friday.

The purported aim of supremacy over whites "is not openly expressed," a department spokesman said. "They attempt to express everything on a religious basis.

"But it is our opinion they are not religiously sincere—that they have ulterior motives."

He said the movement also had been reported active outside prison walls, in New York City, Los Angeles and other cities.

Four Negro inmates of Clinton State Prison gained federal court permission Thursday to serve a summons on Warden J. E. LaVallee. They alleged they had been placed in solitary confinement because they persisted in efforts to follow their faith.

The department gave these figures for the total number of inmates and the number of Negro inmates in the three prisons where the movement reportedly is active:

Clinton 1,963 total and 852 Negroes, Auburn 1,581 and 724, Attica 1,917 and 641.

Houston Welcomes Our Mr. Million

By PAT LA HATTE
Journal-Constitution Promotion Manager

HOUSTON, Tex.—This city, already teeming with millions, had one more added—Atlanta's Mr. Million.

Houston was on the lookout for the Atlanta ambassador because this city chose a Mr. Million of its own in 1954 and sent him on a similar goodwill tour.

A Houston Post reporter told Donald Smith that man's company transferred him about a year after his selection. He asked Donald how long he planned to stay in Atlanta. Donald replied: "I hope to stay forever."

GOT EARLY START

Donald and his wife, Edith, got off to an early start Friday when a Houston Chronicle photographer got them up at 6:30 a.m. to take their picture for an early edition. After breakfast they went on a sightseeing trip which included Rice campus and the field where Saturday's Rice-Clemson clash takes place.

The couple then called upon Mayor Lewis Cutrer, who welcomed the Confederate money and said facetiously he hoped he could use it to settle the impending bus strike in his city. He then gave Edith and Don small keys to the city, saying, "I know you've heard that everything in Texas is big, I wish these were larger."

Edith graciously replied, "Mayor, we know nice things come in small packages."

GAVE GIFTS

When they gave the mayor the gifts from Atlanta, he metaphorically mixed up a couple of television programs, saying, "I feel like bride for today" as the TV man took movies for the Houston Post TV station's newscast.

After lunch in the elaborate downtown Houston Club, the Smiths visited the Champion Paper and Fibre Co.'s huge mill. Don is assistant regional sales manager for this company in Atlanta.

Carteron Resigns as Fair Chief

Col. E. Lee Carteron announced Friday his resignation as general manager and secretary of the Southeastern Fair Assn., citing "differences in administrative operation of the fair."

He declined to elaborate on the reasons for his leaving other than noting that job security was part of it.

Elfred S. Papy, fair association president, praised Carteron's work with the fair and added that "I regret the circumstances that brought his resignation . . . he has done a marvelous job."

Papy said he did not care to comment on the reason behind Carteron's resignation in view of Carteron's decision not to elaborate.

Papy said M. C. Coleman, contract agent for the fair, will serve as manager until a successor can be selected. "We have no one in mind right now," Papy added.

In announcing his resignation, Carteron said he has no immediate plans for a new job. He also said, "I wish to express my gratitude and appreciation for the wonderful help the people of Georgia have given in making Georgia's largest annual event the effective service vehicle in the community that it is."

Carteron was named general manager of the fair in April, 1954, three months after Papy was appointed president in the wake of the resignation of Mike Benton as president and general manager in October, 1954.

Carteron reported the fair this year had its most successful year in its 45-year history despite five days of rain with some 335,956 persons attending.

Davis Assails $287 Million U.S. Debt

Fifth District Rep. James C. Davis deplored an exploding national debt and called on Georgians for greater political awareness in a speech Friday night to Fifth District Jaycees.

Davis noted that the interest alone on America's national debt of an estimated $287,000,000 was nearly twice the $4,500,000,000 needed to completely finance all federal functions in 1932. The $9,000,000,000 annual interest rate he expects to become effective during the next 12 months is equal to the funds which the federal government spent in 1940.

Davis attributed the growth in the national debt to the so-called liberals recently elected to Congress who are chiefly "liberal with the taxpayers' money."

Addressing some 200 Atlanta area Junior Chamber of Commerce members at their district meeting, the representative also scored the aid as doing jobs in foreign countries, which the government called "pork barrel projects" at home. Developing natural resources at home, Davis said, is not a "pork barrel project."

"I am not one of those who feels we can buy friends and buy security by pouring money into every nook and cranny of the world," the congressman said.

Davis quoted Plato in saying: "The penalty good men must pay for indifference to public affairs is to be ruled by evil men."

Browning Exciting in Debut Here

By DICK GRAY

An extremely talented and impressive young American pianist named John Browning played an exciting Atlanta debut recital Friday night to get the current Atlanta Music Club membership series off to a stirring start.

Looking somewhat like a younger Leonard Bernstein, Browning exudes charm, musical ability and showmanship — a winning combination, especially since he sacrifices none of his musical skills to the other two traits.

Browning played Haydn's Sonata in D Major, Schubert's Sonata in A Minor and Beethoven's Sonata in F Minor (Appassionata) before intermission, then returned to play Debussy's "Goldfish," "Footsteps in the Snow" and "Fireworks," concluding with Chopin's Fantasy in F Minor, four mazurkas and Scherzo in C Sharp Minor.

An enthusiastic, near-capacity audience in the Community Playhouse called the smiling artist back for three encores—Rachmaninoff's Prelude in G Major, the March from Prokofiev's "Love for Three Oranges" and Poulenc's "Perpetual Motion."

Browning displayed great power, delicacy, mastery of nuance in tempo and dynamics. He tends to over-emotionalize at times, but this effect is not unpleasant. He plays with flair and color. He properly ranks in the top echelon of the world's younger pianists.

Wallet Taken in Holdup Is Found on Car Victim

A pedestrian injured by a car at Marietta late Friday carried a wallet which was taken from an Atlanta liquor store clerk in a robbery Tuesday, police said.

Marietta Patrolman Hugh Williams said a hold order was placed by Atlanta police on the suspect, identified as Frank Dunkins, 26, of a Ponce de Leon avenue, NE address in Atlanta.

Dunkins was admitted to Kennestone Hospital at Marietta with a broken leg and injuries to the head, police said.

Williams said Dunkins, also wanted in Marietta on a drunk charge, told officers the wallet he carried belong to a friend.

Dunkins was struck by a car on the four-lane highway at Gresham avenue, Williams said. The driver, Freeman T. Cantrell, 18, of 973 Williams St., NW, Atlanta, told him the pedestrian stepped suddenly in front of his car. No case was made against Cantrell.

Williams said Dunkins carried a wallet belonging to Arthur C. Cox, of 321 Maple St., Hapeville, an employe of the Village Liquor store at 6 Blair Village. Cox reportded Tuesday he was bound with adhesive tape and robbed of approximately $500.

Cox said he was alone in the store when a gunman entered, ordered him into a back room, where he was bound with adhesive tape. He said the bandit took his wallet, containing $12, cleaned out the cash register and also took a bag of change from the store safe.

Statesboro Bank Chief Freed in U.S. Tax Case

Charles B. McAllister Sr., Statesboro banker, was acquitted this week of income tax evasion charges by a federal court jury at Swainsboro.

McAllister, president of the Sea Island Bank at Statesboro, was accused of not paying federal income tax on $14,000 from 1952-56. The government's internal revenue agents charged McAllister received $14,000 in commissions from insurance on bank borrowers' policies.

Since his indictment, McAllister, who has been associated with the bank for 40 years, has professed his innocence.

The verdict of "not guilty" was announced by jury foreman Aubrey Scott after the jury had been charged by Judge Frank M. Scarlett, U.S. District Court judge for the Southern district of Georgia.

The jury deliberated less than an hour.

Buried Alive, Killed

Eddie B. Harge, 22, Negro of Social Circle, was killed in Atlanta Friday when buried under several tons of material used in the manufacture of concrete blocks, police said.

Sgt. J. E. Helms said Harge was one of a crew of three who were working in a conveyor tunnel at the Atlanta Aggregate Co. He said Harge went to the top of the tunnel to find why the flow of aggregate had slowed down.

After a search, the body was found buried under tons of the lightweight material, Helms said.

Author Levin Here, Raps Leopold's Suit

Author Meyer Levin, in Atlanta on a leg of a lecture tour, said he coudn't understand Nathan Leopold's decision to sue him. Levin and 57 other persons were named in the $1,500,000 libel suit.

Leopold's fictional counterpart was the protagonist in Levin's best-selling novel, "Compulsion," based on the Loeb-Leopold killing of the '20s, Levin said. The suit, Levin said, constituted an unexpected change from Leopold's stated desire to remain out-of-sight and out-of-mind after his release from prison.

Highway Proposals Are Soundly Based

As with many other agencies of state government, the Highway department is operating under an organizational structure geared to a job far less complex than what it is called upon to do today.

If experiences of the recent past did not prove this conclusively enough, figures from State Auditor Thrasher do. Road contracts let during the last fiscal year amounted to $118,339,992, compared with just under 90 million dollars the previous year. There is a steady annual increase in road-building expenditures and a bigger job to do.

These facts make it all the more important that the recommendations by the Governor's Commission on Economy and Reorganization regarding the department be given full consideration and study.

For instance, it has been apparent for a long time to politicians and laymen alike that the department should be headed by a career engineer-administrator. This is recommended. The present three-man board would be retained in a policy-making capacity but its members would be freed from some of the administrative pressures and politics which handicap them under the present setup.

Consolidation of the present 20 units into five should be a money-saver as well as a move toward efficiency. Bulk buying of fuels, better utilization of machinery, screening out unqualified contractors and ending of many loose practices certainly would make for a more economical administration.

One of the most constructive recommendations is that which calls for a survey to establish long-range needs. If such a study were made and followed, willy-nilly political road building at least would be partially eliminated. Certainly such financially disastrous ventures as the Rural Roads Authority would be less likely.

Lack of foresight and planning in road building has cost Georgia taxpayers many millions of dollars. Studies which show expensively-constructed roads crumbling to pieces for lack of maintenance are proof enough of that.

Georgians can get more and better roads for their money than they have in the past. Reorganization to assure that should receive our wholehearted support.

Homecoming Weaves Its Traditional Magic

Old grads, with banners raised on high, are in for quite a day.

It's homecoming at Georgia Tech and the University of Georgia, each of which will be the scene of varied alumni functions.

The main event at both institutions, of course, will be warfare on the gridirons.

Loyalists at Georgia Tech will be rooting for the Jackets to sting the very dickens out of the Blue Devils from Duke.

University of Georgia partisans will be yelling with equal zeal for the Bulldogs to snap their teeth into the invading Seminoles from Florida State University.

With both Georgia and Tech boasting 5-1 charts, the more starry-eyed of old grads of the respective institutions already are dreaming of bowls.

But whether bowl bids are in the making or not, for thousands this remains the day of days for renewing friendships from college days, reminiscing and trying to grasp for a few fleeting moments a fraction of the elusive past.

Victories for the home teams would fill the cups to overflowing.

Georgia Payrolls Climb Past the Million Mark

It's good to note that Georgia's employment figures have been climbing month by month. A total of 1,011,700 held nonfarm jobs in the state in September, the fifth successive monthly record and 9,000 higher than in August, the period when the state topped the million mark for the first time.

The news, of course, is dampened by announcement of additional layoffs in the automobile industry in the Atlanta area as a result of the steel strike. The metropolitan region of five counties also set a record in employment in September, with 403,950 holding jobs.

The state's strengthened industrial base is helping to build a better-balanced economy. It is becoming more diversified, too, especially in the Atlanta area.

A recent study by Emory University's Business Executives' Research Committee, "A Look at Georgia Manufacturing Industries," suggests the state develop further its major resources of agricultural land, timber and a large labor supply. Without deposits of iron, steel, petroleum and other minerals, Georgia's present industries of food processing, wood using, textiles and apparels can be further expanded and strengthened.

At any rate, Georgia's progress in manufacturing industries continues to be reflected in higher employment figures. That means bigger payrolls and improvements in living standards.

Let Idle State Funds Be Put to Better Use

Georgians are heartened by a statement from Gov. Vandiver that there is a "very strong possibility" legislation will be offered in January which at least would require banks to pay interest on idle state funds on deposit in them.

It followed disclosure that the State Highway department had $36,511,593 in idle funds on deposit, interest free, in banks around the state at the end of the fiscal year. While the amount perhaps was larger than usual, it follows an established pattern in Georgia which through the years has cost the taxpayers millions of dollars.

No one begrudges the banks use of these funds during the period between collection and spending. But to let them use it without paying interest is a rank patronage practice which should have been ended long ago.

Actually the funds should be invested in whatever manner that would yield the greatest return to the state. Other states and municipalities have realized good returns from investments in short-term securities which can be cashed out when funds accumulated for definite purposes but not yet used are needed.

Gov. Vandiver did not initiate the practice. His Commission on Economy and Reorganization is now studying what to do about it. Their recommendations should be forthcoming before the Legislature meets in January. The governor and the General Assembly, we believe, will act in the best interests of the state and its Treasury.

Douglas County Cocks Anti-Gambling Weapon

The Douglas County Commission has fashioned a noose to choke gambling operations and it looks like a good one.

Commission Chairman Arthur Meadows said a secret squad of plainclothes officers has been at work for some time. The four men were hired, according to Meadows, after the duly elected law enforcement machinery failed to crack down on gambling.

The maneuver was carried off well. Now that it has come to light, there apparently is no ill-feeling on the part of any concerned unless it be on the part of operators who decided Douglas County had become too hot a spot for them to ply their vicious trade.

With the lid pretty well fastened in Atlanta on running so-called private clubs as a camouflage for roulette, dice and similar games, operators after a fast buck are constantly looking to neighboring counties for spots in which to set up shop. Counties that allow such human vultures to become entrenched are in for all sorts of grief.

Commissioner Meadows summed it up well. "If one agency doesn't do a certain job," he commented, "then another must."

Other counties would do well to take note.

Tax Assessors Realize Need for Equalization

"Equality" has long been a popular word with freedom-loving people.

We believe in equality before the law, especially in regard to taxpaying.

Not that we believe the tax burden should be divided equally among the population.

Our system is based on the principle that each should pay as he earns and as he owns.

But we do believe the tax laws must be applied on all persons alike, so that each pays his fair share.

That is why we applaud the resolution passed by the Georgia Association of Assessing Officials urging the State Revenue Commissioner to equalize property values throughout the state.

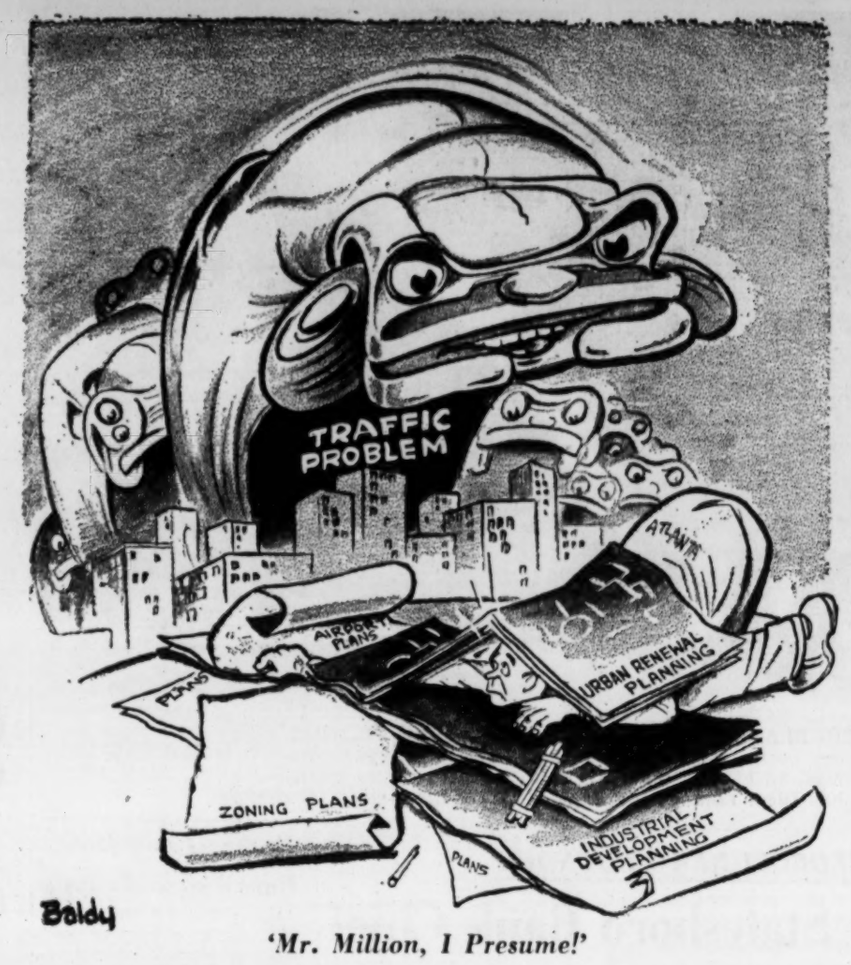

What that means is an acre of timber land or pasture land in Glascock or Appling County should be placed on the tax books at the same value as a like acre in Cobb or Floyd.

Only by fair and impartial evaluation backed up by fair and firm collection can we insure equality before the law in taxation.

On that we must insist if our system of government is to maintain the respect and support of the people.

Practice of Housing Mentally Ill in Jail Criticized as Hangover From Dark Ages

Atlanta—Jack Nelson's article, "Why Am I Here,?" was indeed a powerful reminder to us all that the cruelties and injustices formerly associated with the dark ages still exist within our so-called enlightened era.

While this city and state has the audacity to boast openly of its progress in the way of fine shopping centers, churches, theaters and banks, one's faith can certainly be shaken when Atlanta, so aptly called the city of churches, tolerates such inhuman treatment of the mentally sick.

What could be better propaganda for the Russians than to discover that America houses her mentally ill and aged in dungeons such as Fulton Tower?

He Says Taft-Hartley Will Free Steelworker

Atlanta — It has been disturbingly brought to the attention of the American people that the lawyers of the steel union and the Circuit Court of Appeals consider the Taft-Hartley injunction an infringement against the individual freedom of the steelworkers.

It is my impression that the Taft-Hartley law does not force the workers back to work but simply is a method of forcing the union to halt the strike. Once this strike is halted, the workers have the right and are free to go or not to go back to work as they choose. As long as the injunction is suppressed and the strike continues, the workers still have a right to work but not the freedom to do so.

The right, the freedom, and the wishes of some of the workers to return to the mills have therefore, been sacrificed in favor of the union since one must belong to the union in order to work.

Squirrels Add Twist To Scientific Warfare

Athens—I have long enjoyed reading Harold Martin's column but a recent one was of special interest to me because I was recently victim of a group of squirrel bombardiers such as he described.

However, the squirrels on the University of Georgia campus are a bit shrewder than their less-well-educated brothers elsewhere; they seem to have learned that nuts dropped even from high in a tree may be annoying to humans but seldom inflict serious bodily injury so they have devised a method of causing more permanent damage. Recently I was standing under a pecan tree on the campus when I was suddenly deluged not by nuts but by green pecan husks, every one of which landed not on my head but on the white shirt I was wearing. The indelible marks left by these husks made the shirt look as if it had been sprayed with iodine. The squirrels didn't waste anything edible.

Even the animals are learning scientific warfare these days.

Not the Voice Of Lady Luck

Once there was a fellow who went to Las Vegas in a $6,000 Cadillac and came home in a $76,000 Greyhound bus. But the fellow about whom Billy Graham told, and whose story Monroe Swilley relayed, did better than that. He lost $10,000 on the spinning wheel in L. V. and kept his automobile. On the way home he heard voices. They said, "Go back to the sands. Go back to the gaming table. Go back, go back!"

"Why should I go back?" he argued. "I just lost $10,000."

The voices persisted, "Go back, go back, go back!" So the man wheeled around and drove back to the City of Lights and Losses. He went back to the roulette wheel.

Again came the voices to say, "Put $5,000 on No. 11."

So the man put $5,000 on No. 11, the wheel stopped on No. 5 and the voices said, "Well, what about that!"

Moral: Be sure the voice to which you listen is that of authority.

Rep. Pilcher Is in Group On Foreign Aid Inspection

Rep. J. L. Pilcher of Georgia's Second District and six other congressmen are en route to the Far East on a 30,000-mile world-wide tour to check projects financed by the U.S. foreign aid program. There has been much said and written, pro and con, in recent years about the foreign aid program.

Pilcher and his fellow House members have been instructed to "get the facts" on these hundreds of projects in nearly 70 counties being financed through the aid program and Rep. Pilcher says "that's just what we intend to do."

This around - the - world trip by the congressional group, which will end Dec. 4, should produce some definite answers to our foreign aid program. Congress, as well as the people of the United States, want to know if this four-billion-dollar expenditure is producing results or whether the funds are being wasted. There is a need for an answer because our national debt already has reached staggering proportions—considerably more than the combined debt of the rest of the world.

If the program as a whole is producing concrete results—the kind which would help put free nations on their feet and at the same time make friends of them—the expenditures may be worth the sweat and taxes necessary to carry the program. If the results are negative, then it is time to make adjustments in the foreign aid program or eliminate it.

It is quite a responsibility which has been placed upon Rep. Pilcher and his fellow congressmen. What they see, what they learn about the use of our foreign aid funds and what they report back to Congress will have a marked effect upon future congressional action in the way of setting up appropriations for helping foreign nations.

"We don't intend to miss a trick on this trip," Pilcher said before departure. That is exactly what Congress and the people want—a fair, accurate and factual evaluation of foreign aid.

Phenix Citizen

Many eyes are on Phenix City these days. The big state newspapers are sending their star writers back to snoop around. Even large national magazines are paying notice to us again.

Recently The Citizen received a letter from a man in New Orleans expressing interest in making Phenix City his home because he heard a rumor "that gambling was going to be legalized."

And there are many people in Phenix City itself who are keeping an eye on proceedings — particularly at city hall and in the police department.

The present city commission must feel deeply all the eyes that are watching them — examining their activities and motives.

Stronger Act Seen On Voting Rights

WASHINGTON—In continuing the U.S. Civil Rights Commission, Congress could not have done less and next year will almost certainly do more to provide federal protection for the right to vote. There will be earnest opposition by most Southern congressmen to enlarging the role of the federal government in protecting voting rights, but the Senate's 71-to-18 vote of confidence in the Civil Rights Commission suggests that the votes are there for strengthening the Civil Rights Act of 1957.

I am not one who automatically relishes the increase of federal authority and the decrease of state authority but in this instance it is preeminently fair to say:

That the right to vote for federal officials—president, vice president, senators, representatives—is a federal right.

That this civil right is explicitly spelled out in the Constitution as as is the authority of Congress to enforce it.

That if state and county officials act to discriminate against citizens who want to exercise this federal right it is the duty of the federal government to protect this federal right.

This is the clear and unanimous conclusion of the Civil Rights Commission, including its Southern members.

It is useful to have the commission make the clear distinction that while the "qualifications" of voters are governed by state law, the right to vote derives from Article I of the Constitution. Article I also authorizes federal protection of voting in federal elections against interference from any source.

The principal voting discrimination is now against Negro citizens and this discrimination is limited almost entirely to the South. Here appreciable progress has been made in recent years. In 1947 only about 12 per cent of the adult Negro population in the South was registered. The number of Negro registrants rose from 595,000 in 1947 to 1,200,000 in 1956. This represents about 25 per cent of the nearly five million Negroes of voting age in the South in 1950. By contrast, about 60 per cent of the voting-age Southern whites are registered.

The commission investigated the situation in several counties in Georgia and Louisiana. It found areas in which no Negro is allowed to register and others in which only token registration is permitted. Many extralegal devices are used to prevent Negro registration. Negro applicants are usually kept waiting about nine hours before being allowed to begin the attempted process. If registration looks as though it couldn't be avoided, the registration boards will often simply cease to operate.

I would like to see state rights preserved by being constructively exercised but when state rights are used to cancel federal rights then the federal government has to act.

Suffering Is Part Of Life's Journey

A friend went to New York where he saw the play by Archibald MacLeish called "J.B." This play is a modern interpretation of the Book of Job. In some ways this is a strange theme to offer on the sophisticated Broadway stage for the story is about human suffering. Yet I wonder if this is a strange theme. Perhaps it is the most common theme in human experience.

My friend lent me his copy of "J. B." and I have found in its content an eternally pertinent idea. One of the characters says, "Oh, there's always someone playing Job." A second character responds: "There must be thousands! . . . Millions and millions of mankind burned, crushed, broken, mutilated, slaughtered and for what? For thinking! For walking round the world in the wrong skin, the wrong - shaped noses, eyelids; sleeping the wrong night, wrong city—London, Dresden, Hiroshima. There never could have been so many suffered more or less. But where do I come in?"

Where do we come in? That is a question we do not need long to ponder for all men suffer and all of us live in a world that is full of suffering. We cannot escape from the difficulties, troubles and tragedies that are the lot of mortal men.

If no escape is possible, then we must come to terms with suffering, accept it and rise above it.

How is this possible? First, we can realize that suffering is an element in our common humanity. It is because of our capacity to hate that love becomes meaningful. It is because of the fact of pain that we can anticipate and appreciate pleasure. Because there is sin in the world we have learned the meaning of salvation. The only possible escape from suffering would be to live in a world without courage, helpfulness, kindness and compassion. For without suffering these things would be meaningless.

Second, we can realize that the fact of suffering gives everyone of us an opportunity to help encourage those who bear weighty burdens. "Misery loves company" and love grows deep and strong where there is need. A good part of my week is devoted to those who are in trouble. By helping them I help myself. Without suffering many of us would be at a loss to know if our lives have purpose.

Third, we can realize that God, too, shares our suffering. When his domestic tragedies have been brought to an end with the loss of all his children, J. B. says: "God is there, too, in the desperation. I do not know why God should strike but God is what is stricken also."

Fourth, we can realize through suffering our human frailties and our need for Divine support. Perhaps it is only in the darkest hours of our pain that our lives are pierced most brilliantly with the light of faith.

Cobwebs and Ice Compete With Rain

That old empty question, "What's up?," shouldn't be answered lightly these days. There's no telling what's up. Just this week a 50-pound chunk of ice came crashing from the sky near Toccoa. Previously, the only falling Toccoa had been noted for was Toccoa Falls, one of the scenic wonders of north Georgia.

If ice from the sky isn't enough to shake one, here's this matter of the heavenly cobwebs in Middle Georgia. Scores of persons in Washington, Ga., Sharon, Crawford and Crawfordville in recent weeks have reported seeing long strands floating out of the blue. Among these witnesses are law enforcement officers and other public servants one would expect to be clear-eyed abstainers.

The Air Force—usually turned to when something goes wrong in the sky—says the cobwebs are a member of the halide family of chemicals. Chemicals of this family are used in cloud-seeding rain operations. But the witnesses have pointed out that the skies were clear when the white webs came draping about. If there were no clouds to seed, one might think there would hardly be cloudseeding. Anyway, we haven't needed rainmaking lately in Georgia. The old-fashioned way has been working splendidly.

Cobwebs in the sky! Has that old standby of horror fiction, the Spider Man, actually come to be? Whether he has or not, the circumstances spin a good yarn.

Georgia had hardly absorbed the cobweb business, when the ice was delivered at Toccoa. Farmer C. J. LeCroy reported he was "nearly clobbered."

"I was no more than 10 feet from it when it hit. It almost scared me to death," said LeCroy, who certainly should be permitted a few shakes.

Laboratory analysis of the cool messenger from above revealed the ice was made of pure, soft, untreated and non-chlorinated water. Also, there was no fluoride present. This ice, said the chemist, was not manufactured ice.

The Air Force once again was consulted and that branch of the service said there were no planes in the area when the ice fell. There was conjecture the frigid visitor had some connection with a comet. The weather (whether) bureau said the record size for hail was grapefruit dimensions. The standard size for large hail is golf-ball size. (Occasionally an uninformed newsman will report such hail as being the size of ping-pong balls.)

Two days before the Toccoa delivery, ice fell near Acaia, Italy. No more is known about the Italian ice than is known about the Toccoa ice, except that Italy presently leads in the ice-from-the-sky competition. Their hunk weighed 66 pounds.

The cobwebs have come floating down and the ice has smacked to earth, but both stories still are very much up in the air.

Broadcasters Urged To Editorialize More

Community leaders should encourage radio and television stations to editorialize on issues of the day, the president of the National Association of Broadcasters told the Atlanta Lions Club Friday.

NAB chief Harold Fellows added, "The need for an informed public opinion—not only informed with respect to the facts but with respect to the illumination of the meaning of the facts—has never been more critical in the history of the nation."

He said the Federal Communications Commission recently has reversed its policy to permit broadcasters to give on-the-air editorials.

PAPERS MENTIONED

"We are adding approximately 4,000 potential new forums for the expression of opinion" to the nation's 1,751 daily and 10,214 weekly newspapers, Fellows said.

Fellows was here for a two-day regional NAB convention.

During the final convention sessions, a television executive urged stations to follow the TV code to meet the industry's "obligations" to the public and as their "only defense against outside regulation."

Gaines Kelley, general manager of WFMY-TV, Greensboro, N.C., told the broadcasters, "We must govern ourselves or be governed . . . we can not afford to be judged by the weak links in the industry."

He said quiz shows are only one aspect of television's current "crisis."

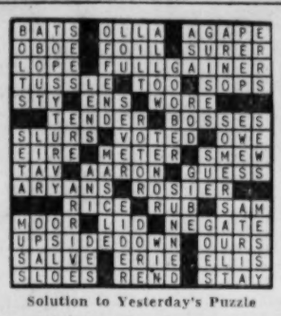

CITES DANGER

He said the greatest danger to TV's standards is "that we allow abuses to creep in, steal upon us unawares."

"An example of a little thing is the slipping in of an additional spot announcement in a 15-minute program to run up the commercial time over and beyond the time standards set up," he said.

"It is the clipping of segments of filmed or network shows that allow that one little extra commercial. These are perhaps little things. But all the same, it is cheating, it is thievery."

Legislative Forum Nov. 12

The Fulton County legislative delegation for the fourth consecutive year will hold a public hearing this year to hear requests for local legislation to be submitted in the upcoming Legislature session.

A hearing is scheduled from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. Nov. 12 in the county commissioners' meeting room in the county administrations building.

Sen. Charlie Brown said the public, civic groups, county officials and officials of all municipalities within the county are invited to the hearing. Also invited are the Atlanta and Fulton County boards of education.

Hottest legislative issue the delegation will have to handle will be school integration, since the Atlanta school board has indicated it will file a desegregation plan in federal court in compliance with a court order for desegregation of schools here.

Ford Cuts Work Week Here

Ford Motor Co.'s Atlanta assembly plant at Hapeville will go on a three-day work week beginning Monday, Harold J. Pearson, plant manager, said Friday.

The Hapeville plant will maintain the three-day, 24-hour week for the next two weeks, Pearson said. His statement followed an announcement by Ford officials in Detroit that its manufacturing and assembly plants will operate on a "modified" schedule for duration of the steel crisis.

The Detroit announcement said curtailed schedules "will extend production and employment at last into December."

Ford manufactures about half of its own total steel needs.

A WOMAN'S WORK—The budget may be a man's province, but the business of raising money for the work of Atlanta's Episcopal churches is fast being taken over by the distaff side. Their taste runs to bazaars and sales, imaginatively conceived and beautifully rendered. The year's schedule focuses on the "fall project"—a White Elephant Sale at All Saints' Church, a County Fair at the Cathedral of St. Philip, an Oriental Bazaar at St. Luke's. Mrs. William C. Cromer, Mrs. Charles Willis and Mrs. Joseph Meade, pictured at left, are three of the Women of the Church at St. Luke's who are fashioning fine needlework and Christmas decorations for an Oriental Bazaar Nov. 20 and 21. Rare books and antiques will be among the merchandise sold in the "six tents of the Persian Gardens." At the Cathedral of St. Philip, Cleveland Willcoxon and Ed Colhoun (front), Dargan Morris, Nina Sydney Boley, Mary Barnwell and Eddie Broyles try out the "Surrey with the Fringe on Top," a feature of the County Fair to be held at the church Nov. 4 and 5. Other highlights of the fair include a sponge throw, a hayride, a carousel, a puppet show with "voices from the pulpit," a variety booth, a bake shop, an exhibit of old automobiles and a "scarecrow with a thousand pockets." In the photo at right Mrs. John T. Butler examines one of the more mystifying items sold at White Elephant Sale this week by the Women of All Saints' Church. The merchandise—tie racks, shoes, and china, etc.—was gathered from attics and basements; left overs were auctioned off—mostly to men—at a spaghetti supper.

Pastor Indicts Church As 'Mother' of Racism

By BETSY LOCHRIDGE

An indictment of the church as the mother and sustainer of segregation was voiced in Macon this week by a Charleston, W. Va., minister and writer.

Addressing the annual meeting of the Georgia Council on Human Relations, the Rev. Kyle Haselden, pastor of The Baptist Temple, added one more point of view to an issue which has become increasingly controversial to Southern church leaders.

His text was drawn from his recently published study, "The Racial Problem in Christian Perspective," (Harper).

His argument: Since its inception in this country, the Protestant church has made a "positive and sometimes malicious contribution to the race-caste system in America." It has used the doctrines of Christ to "make an oppressed people contented in their oppression" and has often been a teacher of "immoral moralities"—i.e., segregation. Racial discrimination, he says, has inflicted on the Body of Christ a deep wound which is destructive to the true humanity of each race.

A native of South Carolina, middle-aged (46), dedicated and outspoken, the Rev. Mr. Haselden believes "there is no alternative to the integrated church."

His views, well known in Charleston, have met with opposition. "There are many ways to fight a minister," he says. "Money (cutting the church budget) is a favorite weapon." Several families have withdrawn their membership from The Baptist Temple since the Rev. Mr. Haselden became pastor. Others are quietly hostile.

"A minister has got to stand up for what he knows is right," says the Rev. Mr. Haselden. "He's got to lead, he's got to keep a constant rein on his flock, but if the tension is too great, the tie snaps, and the minister loses his effectiveness. He may even lose his church."

No revolutionary, the Rev. Mr. Haselden concedes that "what a minister can do depends on where he is." "You can't change attitudes by pronouncing edicts from the pulpit as if it were a throne," he asserts.

To Deep South ministers, he recommends the forum, small meetings where ideas can be exchanged, theories discussed and psychological conflicts resolved.

The minister's role is simply this, he concludes: "To help his people understand the profound implications of the Christian ethic."

Homecoming Socials

Homecoming at Tech, Georgia, Auburn and 21 other colleges spices a tasty football menu Saturday and apparently all the grads are interested in the outcome of the football social in Baton Rouge.

Louisiana State and Mississippi, undefeated, untied and unchallenged, collide head-on in a dream game which may crown the national football champion.

Outlar

On the home front, however, the folks will have plenty of action before tuning in the nightcap on the Bayou. Georgia Tech and Georgia, rapidly moving toward the front of the bowl debutante line, tangle with non-conference foes eager to smirch 5-1 records.

Tech takes on an unpredictable Duke outfit, which has looked great, average and mediocre. Georgia plays host to erratic Florida State, and Auburn entertains in-and-out Florida.

The wettest October in the state's history is supplying a damp background for homecoming festivities, but it's always a bright afternoon when the home team wins. There is, of course, no guarantee that the home forces will prevail, but Tech and Georgia are two-touchdown favorites to carve victory notches.

Duke is coming to town primed for an upset, for the Blue Devils recall that Tech belted them out of the undefeated bracket on their last visit here. Bill Murray hasn't said so, but he'd probably rather whip the Engineers than any non-league foe on Duke's slate.

Though Murray owns one of the outstanding coaching records in the game (171-53-12), he has achieved little success against Tech. In eight previous matches, the Engineers have won six, lost one and tied one against Murray.

However, the Blue Devils aren't going to catch Tech looking out the window. Dodd has repeatedly reminded his men that they're up against a tough foe. Duke probably isn't as strong as advertised by the Tech coaches, but the Blue Devils definitely are better than their 2-4 record indicates. They outplayed Ohio State in Columbus before losing a last-minute 14-13 decision, and they flailed Rice, 24-7.

—Tech, Georgia Alumni Should Be Smiling

On a dry track Tech figures to outrace Duke, but the going may be sloppy. The double-header ruined the Grant Field turf, so this game may be a real mud brawl.

Five of six previous opponents have cashed two or more touchdowns against Duke. Only Auburn limited Tech to less than two scores. Duke has scored only once on Tech in four games. The Tech defensive troops, frightened last week by Tulane's 13-point first half, are in a more alert frame of mind for this one. Tech is the choice here by a 14-0 margin.

Though Wallace Butts and Perry Moss would prefer dry skies in Athens, the Bulldogs probably won't mind the rain. They've whipped Hardin-Simmons, Mississippi State and Kentucky on off tracks.

It's no military secret that the Seminoles would like to come out throwing and pitch until they win or lose. Off past performance, they don't have the ground game to handle the Georgia infantry. Of course, Georgia likes to put the ball in the air, and you may see both teams hurling the slippery pigskin.

Florida State has never defeated Georgia, and Moss would like to start out on the right side of the ledger. He has a top flight pitcher in Joe Majors, who needs only a few completions to set a flock of Seminole records.

Halfback Fred Pickard, who ripped off 79 against the Bulldogs last year, is one of the finest runners in the South. But Georgia has more weapons, and the Bulldogs have the finest morale they've had in years. The homecoming turnout in Sanford Stadium should have a victory to cheer about, say by a score of 22-6.

Auburn, shooting for its 24th straight triumph in Cliff Hare Stadium, should protect its record of never having lost to the Gators at home. Bob Woodruff's men are battle-scarred from last week's bout with LSU, and Auburn is just about as tough. Playing LSU and Auburn on successive weekends isn't advisable. Now that the Plainsmen have a full head of steam, they're capable of mixing it up with the very best in college football. Florida isn't one of the best, so Auburn figures to win handily by a 21-0.

—Bengals Get Nod in Big One in the Bayou

Down in Baton Rouge they're putting the entire roll on one roll of the football dice. The national crown, a Sugar Bowl bid and the SEC title may be at stake.

Paul Dietzel's Bengals have unreeled 18 straight victories. Ole Miss hasn't lost since LSU punctured its balloon in Tiger Stadium last year. Observers believe that the teams playing Saturday night are the finest ever to clash in this long, colorful and bitter schedule.

Dietzel modestly wrote before the season that he had the best team in the South. Thus far, no team has been able to dispute his claim. Tight-lipped Johnny Vaught has admitted to close friends that this is perhaps his strongest outfit at Ole Miss.

Lousiana State hasn't surrendered a touchdown in six games. Tulane, the lone team to score on Ole Miss, quickly discovered that it was a 53-7 mistake. This engagement marks the first time that either team has been confronted by a foe armed with equal depth. LSU is three deep, so are the Rebels.

LSU hasn't shot the works all season. Ole Miss went all out in last week's 28-0 triumph over Arkansas. They say the breaks will decide this one, and they probably will. But I think LSU will apply the defensive brakes to Ole Miss' streamlined TD machine. The Rebels have a great back in Charlie Flowers, but they don't have a Billy Cannon. Here's a confident 14-7 ballot for the Bayou Bengals in their own back yard.

The others: Alabama 14, Mississippi State 0; Tennessee 20, North Carolina 13; Vanderbilt 14, Minnesota 7; Clemson 19, Rice 14; The Citadel 20, W&M 19; Maryland 14, South Carolina 6; Wake Forest 35, Virginia 12; VPI 13, Richmond 0; Penn State 28, West Virginia 13.

Air Force 21, Army 14; Notre Dame 20, Navy 7; Syracuse 28, Pittsburgh 13; Illinois 14, Purdue 7; Northwestern 28, Indiana 7; Wisconsin 14, Michigan 0; Ohio State 9, Michigan State 7; Holy Cross 28, Colgate 12; Yale 14, Dartmouth 0; Penn 35, Harvard 13; Cincinnati 7, Xavier 0; Iowa State 20, Kansas 19; Oklahoma 21, Nebraska 7; Colorado 13, Missouri 7.

Houston 14, Tulsa 6; North Texas State 28, Wichita 7; TCU 21, Baylor 12; Texas 20, SMU 7; Cornell 28, Columbia 20; Iowa 35, Kansas State 0; Southern Cal 21, California 0; Oregon State 14, Washington State 6; Washington 7, UCLA 3; Stanford 28, San Jose 13. Season's record: 164-70-6—.703.

Bird Runs Stun Miami

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—Two dazzling touchdown runs by Calvin Bird fired up Kentucky Friday night and the underdog Wildcats overran Miami's Hurricanes 22-3 in the Orange Bowl.

Bird, a 190-pound halfback, returned a punt 55 yards in the first period and raced 38 yards through the Miami line in the fourth. Kentucky's other touchdown was scored easily after a fumble recovery a yard from the Hurricane goal.

Four minutes after the game started, Bird brought a crowd of 34,547 to its feet by taking a punt, cutting a sideline and running past a host of Miami tacklers to score.

Stan Markowski fumbled a pass from center on an attempted punt in the third quarter and Bob Hunt's recovery at the one made Kentucky's second touchdown a gift.

Jackets 12-Point Choice Over Blue Devils Today

AT TECH . . . GATHERING OF THE CLANS . . . AT GEORGIA

Homecoming A Rainy One

By JESSE OUTLAR
Constitution Sports Editor

Georgia Tech and Duke, wrangling all week about who's the biggest, will decide Saturday afternoon who's the best.

The oddsmakers say Tech is 12 points superior to the burly Blue Devils from Durham, but Chief Engineer Bobby Dodd ingists that the game is strictly a toss-up.

This debate started in 1933 and no decision has been reached, for the colorful series now reads 13-12-1. Duke enjoys the one-game edge, which Tech hopes to erase before a homecoming crowd of 44,177. Kick-off is 2 p.m.

A forecast of rain may leave empty pews in Grant Field, but the ticket racks are empty for the fourth straight Tech home game.

Duke arrived in Atlanta Friday afternoon and rehearsed in a drizzling rain at Rose Bowl Field. Tech limbered up in the gym.

Dodd and Duke Coach Bill Murray kidded about the weights of the two squads. Murray insists that Duke usually fields an average-size team which gains several pounds in Atlanta newspapers. He cited his 1953 outfit as an example, claiming the Blue

Bill Hartack May Go Aboard Round Table

NEW YORK (AP)—Willie Hartack appeared to have the inside track to ride fabulous Round Table in Saturday's $111,600 Jockey Gold Cup at Aqueduct but definite selection of a jockey won't be made until Saturday.

Eddie Arcaro is scheduled to ride Sword Dancer in the battle with Round Table for horse of the year honors.

"We'll wait," said trainer Willie Molter after discussing the situation with Travis Kerr, owner of Round Table, racing's biggest money-winner.

Molter said he would like Hartack to ride. But Willie was listed to be aboard Tudor Era, one of the seven other horses entered for the two-mile turf race.

Tudor Era, however, will not race unless it rains. Round Table won't race unless it's a nice day. The forecast is for a fair, sunny day.

Georgia Gets Gator Bowl Eyes in FSU Grid Battle

By PAUL ATKINSON

There'll be an added incentive for Georgia's Southeastern Conference-leading Bulldogs Saturday in their homecoming game with Florida State. It'll be the peering eyes of the Gator Bowl committee.

No one at Georgia is talking bowl yet. But it's no secret that the Bulldogs stand their best chance since 1950 for a bowl bid, what with their 5-1 won-lost report overall and 4-0 in the SEC.

It'll be the first of two chances for the Gator Bowl committee to tab the Bulldogs. Of course, the Bulldogs and Florida hook up Nov. 7 in a traditional game at Jacksonville's Gator Bowl Stadium.

The Bulldogs rule 14-point favorites to keep their record clean against the Seminoles, who have never won from the Bulldogs. A crowd of 30,000 fans is expected for the 2 p.m. kick-off at Sanford Stadium on an overcast, damp day.

Just how much a slow turf will injure the game isn't known. But, for sure, it's likely that a wet field won't hamper the Bulldogs to any extent. They've won the last two, 15-0 over Mississippi State and 14-7 over Kentucky, in conditions not exactly conducive to spectacular football.

The big defense was the big reason Kentucky was repelled. And Coach Wally Butts likely will call on that again, because FSU likes to move the football. Quarterback Joe Majors' passing and right halfback Fred Pickard's running have been the big instruments in a 3-3 season.

Butts will have his usual starting array up front. Ends Jimmy Vickers and Gorden Kelley, tackles Larry Lancaster and Don Leebern, guards Billy Roland and Pat Dye and center Dude Thompson. Dye will continue his bid for all-SEC, all-America honors.

Butts also has nominated Charley Britt to go at quarterback with the SEC's two top pass receivers at halfbacks, Bobby

Auburn U. Favored Over Gators By 13 In HC Tilt

By MICKEY LOGUE
Constitution Sports Writer

AUBURN, Ala.—Auburn University is a 13-point favorite to win its first home-coming football game Saturday afternoon from a hard-snouted Florida Gator with an upset gleam in its eye.

After officially competing in Southern pigskin society since 1892 as Alabama Polytechnic Institute, the Tigers received their fancy new "University" title from the state legislature just in time for the Florida invasion.

A record crowd of more than 36,000 is expected to overflow Cliff Hare Stadium as Auburn attempts to extend a seven-year home winning streak to 24 games.

The weatherman indicates raincoats and long johns will be in order for the 3 o'clock (EST) kickoff, with the contestants probably sloshing it out on a wet, cold track.

Auburn has established a reputation for being exceptional mudders, following a mobile 224-pound line to victories over Kentucky and Georgia Tech.

Since the Gators up front average 216 pounds, they appear in no danger of being manhandled.

With sophomore Bobby Hunt and junior Bryant Harvard at the controls, Auburn has recouped from an opening-game loss to Tennessee by taking four in a row and rising to eighth position in Associated Press and United Press International polls.

Making the Tigers an even more appetizing target for the Gators, they have lost only one game in their last 29 and have never lost to Florida at home. The Gators managed a tie at Cliff Hare Stadium in 1939.

Although Florida's 3-2-1 record has created little stir among bowl selection committees, Coach Bob Woodruff's men made a firm impression on the nation's No. 1 team last week. It required a couple of cashed breaks to get LSU in the scoring column, 9-0.

The magnificent punting of halfback Bobby Joe Green gives Florida a rainy-day weapon that Auburn's Joe Dolan will have great difficulty matching. Green booted for a startling 57-yard average against LSU, contributing immensely to the Bengals' scoring woes.

Green has been sidelined by injury during this week's prac-

EITHER WAY YOU PICK IT—OLE MISS, LSU PLAY GAME-OF-YEAR TONIGHT

BATON ROUGE, La. (AP)—The South's never seen anything like it before, and quite likely never will again. But for 60 minutes Saturday night when Louisiana State and Mississippi clash, Baton Rouge will be the nation's football capitol.

For LSU's top-ranked defending national champions and Mississippi, NO. 3 among college football's powers in this week's AP poll, this is THE day. Oddsmakers rate the game a tossup and followers of both unbeaten squads don't have to go far to find an argument.

When the long-assured capacity crowd of 67,500 settles down for the kickoff at 9 p.m. (EST), there won't be any scarcity of ingredients to make this 1959's game-of-the-year.

In the talent department, LSU will match All-America halfback Billy Cannon's swift charges against the smashes of Ole Miss fullback Charlie Flowers. Cannon is only 109 yards away from an all-time LSU rushing yardage record while flowers is the seventh-ranked ground gainer in the nation.

Other individual duels quite possibly might pit the passing arm of LSU quarterback Warren Rabb and Rebel field general Jake Gibbs, the talented toes of LSU sophomore Wendell Harris and Bob Khayat of the Rebels and two forward walls loaded with power.

At long last, comes a word from the rival coaches, Paul Dietzel of LSU and Rebel mentor Johnny Vaught. Spirit has run high on the campuses of both schools and the rival pilots has been extremely cautious in any predictions.

Will the pressure be too much on the Tigers as they try to extend their 18-game winning streak, the longest current string in football?

"With out boys," said Dietzel, who was named Coach-of-the-Year last season, "the 18-game streak brings pride, not pressure."

And while predictons of victory were not forthcoming, Dietzel's air was one of contained optimism.

Vaught, an All-American guard at Texas Christian 25 years ago and one of football's noted pessimists, departed from his usual restrained vein.

Vaught considers his team No. 1 but conceded, "We've got a lot of people to convince that we are."

Army, Air Force Tangle; Texas Favored Over SMU

By United Press International

Louisiana State, the nation's top-ranked college football team, and Mississippi clash Saturday night in a "meetin' of the unbeaten" which will reduce the select list of nine major perfect-record teams by at least one.

Saturday's program also is highlighted by the first meeting between Army and the Air Force Academy at Yankee Stadium in New York, an important Southwest Conference battle pitting Texas against Southern Methodist, and a few other key games affecting the bowl bids.

Besides L.S.U. and Mississippi, the only other major perfect-record team expected to have trouble is Texas. The seven others—Northwestern, Syracuse, Penn State, Southern California, Yale, and North Texas State—all were picked by the oddsmakers to win by two touchdowns or more.

A crowd of 70,000 is expected to fill Yankee Stadium for the Army-Air Force clash — New York City's biggest college football game in nearly 10 years. The Cadets, with a so-so 3-2 record this season, were favored by six over the Air Force, beaten only once in five games.

Army has been plagued by an unusually large number of injuries but the return of halfback Bob Anderson has boosted Cadet hopes for victory. The game shapes up as a passing duel between the two star quarterbacks, Joe Caldwell of Army and Rich Mayo of the Falcons.

Texas, ranked fourth nationally, was picked by three points to contain the passing of Don Meredith and beat Southern Methodist at Dallas. Texas has a 5-0 record and S.M.U. has lost two games and been tied once. But past performances are ignored in these spirited Southwest Conference battles which have Cotton Bowl overtones.

Among the other perfect-record teams, Northwestern, ranked second behind L.S.U, was favored to beat Indiana and continue its quest of the Big Ten championship and the Rose Bowl berth; fifth-ranked Syracuse was the choice over Pittsburgh; sixth-ranked Southern California was picked over California, seventh-ranked Penn State over West Virginia; Yale, thus far unscored-upon, as the choice over Dartmouth and North Texas State over Wichita.

In addition to Army-Air Force, this week's intersectional fare finds Navy at Notre Dame, Wyoming at North Carolina State, five times here Friday night and with it a 7-6 game.

Smyrna mounted one scoring drive in the second quarter, Ronald Morris climaxing it with a 19-yard run. Jack Royal's sweep for the point proved to be the clincher.

Marist scored its TD in the third quarter, Emmett Goodman going over from the four. But Jim Carroll was stopped on a plunge for the point.

Marist held the upper hand in rushing on Smyrna, 214 to 93.

ROSE BOWLERS HONORED

Graves to Murray: 'Get Out Scales!'

By AL THOMY

Just how big is a big football player?

That was the big homecoming question is Georgia Tech's Engineers prepared to meet Duke Universitys' Blue Devils here Saturday afternoon.

Coach Bill Murray of Duke started the conversational ball rolling when he insisted his team was not as large as advertised. He pointed to the 1953 Duke team which pulled into town described a massive club that outweighed Tech by 13 pounds per man.

"And we had a 155-pound end on the first unit!" smiled Murray.

"Bill, why do you want to tell newsmen you have got a bunch of little boys?" joked Tech coach Bobby Dodd.

At that moment a group of Blue Devils appeared, on their way to the practice field.

"Bill, you had better get your little linemen out to Rose Bowl Field," laughed Dodd. "Now I'll admit, this Tech team is the biggest I've had."

Murray smiled. "I wish you would tell that to the people up at Durham. They want to know why we always come down here and lose to those 'little biddy' Tech boys."

Glancing at the husky Blue Devils, Tech assistant head coach Ray Graves interrupted with, "Hey, we'd better get out the scales. Look at those guys!"

Murray, however, insisted that Duke players have been overweighed in the press.

"We are not as big as people say we are. And our weights are true ones, taken at a player's heaviest, not after practice."

Changing the weighty subject, Dodd informed Murray that left field at Rose Bowl Field would probably be the driest spot for Duke's warmup drills.

"Do you know where left field is out there?" someone asked Duke assistant Ace Parker.

Parker chuckled. "Do I know where left field is; sure I know where left field is." Everyone laughed, recalling Parker's days as a major league outfielder.

Weight was the subject at another meeting, a few blocks north at the Mayfair Club where the 1928 Georgia Tech Rose Bowl team was holding a reunion.

Vance Maree of Marietta, a tackle on that team, admitted he weighed 245, "15 pounds over my playing weight."

Fourteen members of the '28 club were present. They were (home towns and professions listed): Stumpy Thomason, Thomasville, N.C., car dealer; John North, Atlanta, ceramics; Isadore Shulman, Candalla, Ill., oil drilling concern; Ben Largen, Coral Gables, real estate; Clyde Smith, Grantville, textiles; Rollie Drennon, Atlanta, U.S. Navy; Harrell Rusk, Atlanta, concrete business; Ken Thrash, Atlanta, engineer; Vance Maree, motel operator; Tom Jones, Atlanta, beverage distributor; Phil Von Weller, Jacksonville Beach, motel operator; Jim Kinnett, Macon, textiles; Charles Brumby, Atlanta, dry cleaning business; and Joe Westbrook, Atlanta auto dealer.

Westbrook, who headed arerangments for the reunion, reported on other '28 squad members, to wit:

Dutch Faisst, Seattle, Wash., Aluminum Co. of America; Hudson Edwards, Charleston, S.C., outdoor advertising; Roy (Father) Lumpkin, Dallas, Tex. bowling alleys; Capt. Peter Pund, New York, labor negotiator for Bethlehelm Steel; Frank Waddey, Memphis, Firestone engineer; Bob Parham, Atlanta, insurance; Jim Brooke, Davenport, Iowa, heating and air conditioning business.

Westbrook read a wire from Pund, who was unable to be present.

Everyone had a big meal, sang a few bars of Ramblin' Reck, said to hell with Georgia and Duke and went home.

Tulane Rallies to Beat Raiders, 17-7

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — Tulane stormed back on Howard Kisner's field goal and quarterback Phil Nugent's touchdown pass in the second half for a fog-shrouded 17-7 football victory over Texas Tech Friday night.

The teams shared a 7-7 deadlock at halftime but Tulane found the range in the third quarter and went ahead on Kisner's 16-yard boot.

With slightly more than eight minutes left in the game, Nugent capped a short drive by lobbing a four-yard touchdown heave to halfback Tommy Mason.

The Texans hit paydirt first when they marched 60 yards in 11 plays for their touchdown.

Eagles Roll Over Detroit

DETROIT (AP)—Boston College rode the accurate passing arm of little Johnny Amabile Friday night on three swift touchdown strikes for a 21-9 victory over Detroit.

The 5-8 quarterback, whose faking sent his receivers into the clear time after time, connected, on long distance for all the Eagles' touchdowns.

The Eagles marched 72, 78 and 90 yards for their touchdowns, and Amabile's strikes gulped up practically all the yardage. The Eagles gained 243 yards in the three marches, and rushing provided only 12 yards of the total.

Brown Rips Northside, 14-0; Murphy and Grady Tie, 7-7

Ragsdale, Scott Tame Tigers

and Murphy tussled to a 7-7 deadlock in an unscheduled football double-header at Grady Stadium.

The rainiest Georgia October in 61 years had turned Cheney Stadium into such a frightful morass that the important Brown-Northside setto was shifted to Grady earlier in the day.

Brown boomed into the driver's seat in the City League's Western Division by handing the Northsiders their first defeat since the Rebs turned the trick a year ago. And to prove their class, the West Enders scored more points than the Tigers had allowed 7 previous foes all-told—a mere 13.

Murphy and Grady virtually eliminated each other from the Eastern Division race—both now have a defeat and a tie—and left North Fulton needing only a victory over one of the two to clinch the crown and a spot in the Milk Bowl game—against Brown, in all probability.

Coach Jack Peek's Rebels, led by Porter Ragsdale and Terry Scott and sideback Bobby Rowden, held Wayman Creel's Tigers in a defensive vise from which they could never wiggle free. Ragsdale and Scott, in addition to coiling around a Tiger fumble each, made nine and six unassisted tackles. Rowden, who also made six tackles, and Richard Walton snuffed out Northside threats with pass interceptions.

Joel Milligan, who led the ball carrying brigade with 53 yards in 12 carries, cut through tackle for 16 yards to put Brown on the way to a 42-yard push that ended in paydirt on Milligan's one-yard dive four plays deep into the second quarter. Slick quarterback Eddie Jordan fired a 15-yard strike to Rowden on the play before the TD. Mickey Babb left-footed the seventh point.

Savage defensive work by Top Myers, Charles Holloway, Stuart McDaniel and Jimmy Watts kept the West Enders scoreless from that point until mid-way the fourth quarter. Then three plays after Ragsdale recovered a fumble 46 yards out, Jordan—who completed three of eight passes—hit a "home run." End Harold Ogles gathered in his 50-yard-in-the-air heave for a 41-yard TD, and Babb tacked on the 14th point.

Northside made only two threats, both on the passing and running of McDaniel. Walton halted the first by intercepting a pass on the goal line on the final play of the first half. And it was Walton again who knocked down an end-zone carried by Billy Griggsby with 1:13 left in the game after the Tigers marched 46 yards to the Brown eight.

It was another McDaniel—soph QB Wayne—who spearheaded a 44-yard, second-quarter push that netted Murphy a 7-0 halftime lead over Grady. McDaniel spun 14, 2 and the final 11 yards on three keeper plays and then "kept" again to run over the Brown extra point. Charles Burrows and Larry Greene, who rambled 45 and 44 yards on eight and 15 lugs, and Mike Fisher ground out the rest.

Grady got even when the second half was only three plays old. End Paul Kinsvater pounced upon a Murphy fumble 16 yards out, and after a play lost a yard, Johnny Johnson fired a 17-yard scoring strike to end Don Baxter. Jim Howard booted the PAT and the final score was on the books.

Jack Fligg's Knights dominated play much of the final half as linemen John Sower, Jerry Davis—with eight tackles each—Bruce Finkelstein, Jim Taylor and John Steele led the tackling.

Moore Scores 20, As Druid Upset

Southwest DeKalb Wins Over Favorites, 20-7

Fullback Doug Moore staged a one-man production, scoring all his team's points, as the Southwest DeKalb Panthers knocked over favored Druid Hills, 20-7, Friday night at Southwest DeKalb.

The win by Dewey Alverson's Panthers could possibly bring about a three-way tie among Southwest DeKalb, Athens and Druid Hills for Region 4-AAA East honors.

The Panthers jumped out front early in the first period after halfback Jack Smith claimed Ray Massey's fumble on the Druid 36. The drive took 10 plays, with Moore jumping over from the two.

In the second period Moore boomed a 49-yard quick kick which halfback Dickey Hightower fumbled and center Doyle Johnson fell on the ball at the Druid Hills eight. On the first snap Moore moved eight muddy yards for his second touchdown to give Southwest DeKalb a 14-0 halftime lead.

Another Druid Hills fumble put the Panthers in business at Druids' 23. After a five-yard penalty, quarterback Doug Watkins threw an 18-yard strike to end Buddy Pittard and Moore sloshed 10 yards untouched.

Druid Hills' lone score was an 11-yard, 64-yard affair which quarterback Richard Hall capped with a determined three-yard dash.

Johnson, guard Paul Hankey and tackle Doug Stacks headed up a leather-tough Panther defense. End Andy Anderson and halfback Jim Moore stood out defensively for Druid Hills.

Peace Paces Win Over Westminster

Headland Takes 12-7 Game; Fullback Gains 64 Yards

By MAC CHAPLIN

Headland's Highlanders handed Westminster its second straight setback Friday, whipping the West Paces' Wildcats, 12-7, on the latter's field.

Danny Peace, Jim Robinson, Richard Alderman and Buddy Phillips led the Rams' spoiling of Westminster's homecoming.

Fullback Peace, 200-pound senior, made war on the Wildcat middle 18 times for 64 yards and a 3.6 average, a good piece of the Highlander's total 87 yards rushing.

Tricky halfback Alderman caught two of Robinson's four completed passes, while Phillips, from his sideback slot, was the eagerest defender.

Robinson master-minded all the offense that was necessary. He scored in the first quarter from the one after Royce Olvey had recovered Peyton Robinson's fumble on the Wildcat four.

Again, he capped a brilliant 62-yard opening drive in the third quarter, sneaking six inches on the 15th play.

Westminster's Steve Selig broke loose on the fifth play of the game with a 51-yard touchdown gallop around right end. Bonneau Ansley's toe provided a slim 7-6 half time margin.

Tackle Griffin Bell led Wildcat defenders with 11 tackles, half on penetrations. Ed Croft, Laurie Croft and Paul Pressley won defensive applause.

Headland coach Nolan Lang gasped happily after the game, "Great! We only used 14 men, but we had the defense when it counted."

Westminster controlled the ball most of the second half, but Headland's defense made them cough up the ball three times, once on the five.

Coach Charlie Brake discovered Thursday that first string quarterback Harrison Jones would be out for the season with a worsening of an old arm injury.

Both Brake and Lang had praise for Peace's rugged running.

Jimmy Partin scored two of the Chamblee touchdowns on runs of 51 and eight yards. The other was turned in by Charles Clements on a 14-yard scamper.

Dickie Eaves led the Elberton attack with two touchdowns, both on short plunges.

Both teams gained consistently by sticking to the ground on the wet field.

Chamblee coach Gene Goff collapsed during the game and was rushed to the hospital, but reports later listed him as "all right."

Lithonia Falls, 14-12

Special to The Constitution

LITHONIA—Lithonia's Bulldogs sought their second win of the season in vain here Friday night as South Gwinnett set them back, 14-12. It as the second consecutive "almost" game for the hard-fighting Bulldogs, who last week were upended by West Gwinnett in a heartbreaking 27-26 thriller.

Sonny Gardner and Buddy Harrison scored the South Gwinnett TDs, and Bob Britt racked up the winning EPs. Scoring action came early, with South Gwinnett taking the kickoff on the 35 and winding up with a Gardner TD.

James carried the ball 14 times for a gain of 165 yards, (65 more than the entire Sprayberry team), threw four passes for 75 yards, intercepted a pass to set up the fourth Avondale score, and directed the team perfectly from the tight T short punt, and single and double wing formations.

He scored the first two touchdowns, a one-foot dive over the line and a 25-yard end run behind some fine blocking. His longest run was a 29-yard jaunt to the one-foot line late in the first quarter.

Early in the first quarter Avondale drove to Sprayberry's one-foot line, only to be turned back, after a fumble and three plays failed from the three-yard line.

Tech Freshmen Shell Erring Tigers, 33-12

CLEMSON, S.C. (AP) — Georgia Tech's freshman football team capitalized on just about every break imaginable Friday to whip the Clemson College frosh 33-12. It was Clemson's first loss of the season.

The Yellow Jackets, smartly handled in a rain storm by reserve quarterback Ben Ferguson, broke the game open in the fourth period when they scored 19 points. Fumbles and intercepted passes, along with penalties, set up most of the scoring plays, with Tech taking advantage of its opportunities.

Ferguson scored twice and his lateral set up another on a 55-yard scoring play.

Tech scored first midway the opening period when end Joe Chamman intercepted a Clemson pass and ran it 23 yards to the Tiger 15. Tom Winingder carried it over two plays later from the three.

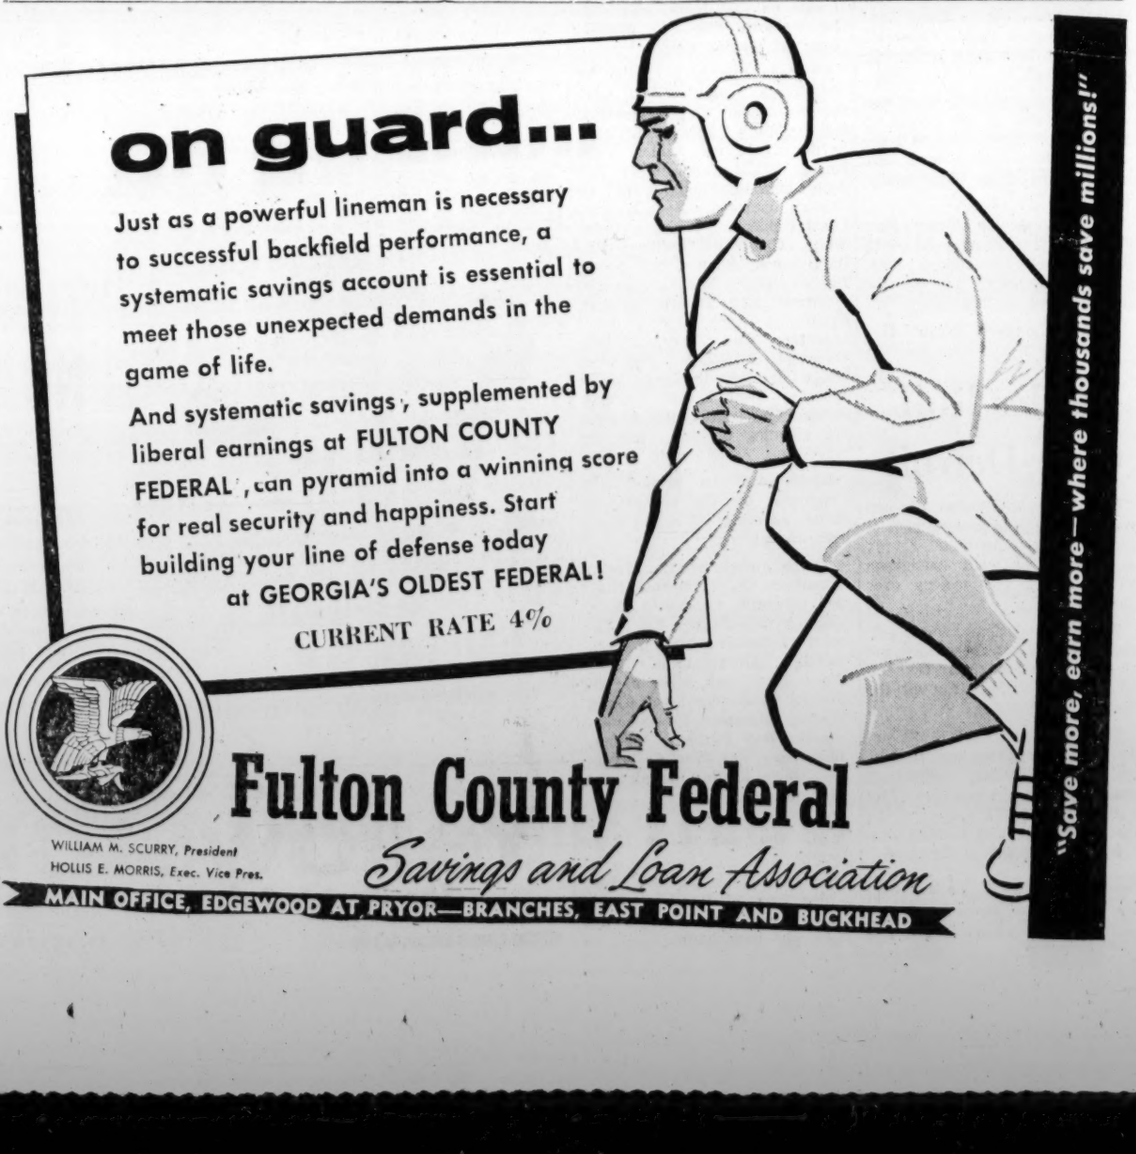

Clemson drove 65 yards later in the period, with fullback Bill McGuirt gaining most of the yardage and quarterback Joe Anderson scoring from the one.

Tech's other scores came on a 70-yard drive, with Ferguson scoring from the four; Zollie Sircey, on a lateral play that covered 55 yards; Ferguson on a one-yard plunge, and a 40-yard run by John Saltsman.

The Tigers got their second touchdown in the third period on a 14-yard pass from Anderson to end Coleman Glaze.

SYLVAN IN 'DO-OR-DIE' STRUGGLE WITH OWLS

Sylvan High's Bears, faced with the stark prospect of being eliminated from the City League title race, face West Fulton's Owls in a do-or-die battle that inaugurates a football doubleheader at Grady Stadium Saturday night.

Once considered a serious threat to Brown and Northside in the Western Division, the Jack Wood-coached Bears now are tied with Southwest for third place, each owning a 2-1 won-lost record in the sub-region. With four teams still in the running and only two more weeks to go, another loss would be fatal.

Jack Hogg's Owls, already out of the race, will be no push-over, even without their injured fullback ace, big Mike Holston. With quarterback whiz Larry Rakestraw in there pitching, the Owls are an ever-dangerous flock.

That clash will be the highlight of the evening's meager prep slate across the state. Smith and O'Keefe tangle in an inter-divisional game of oft-beaten teams in the second game of the Grady Stadium twin bill, Rabun County will be at East Hall and Trion will invade Lindale to do battle with Pepperell.

The Sylvan-West Fulton game starts at 6:30, the Smith-O'Keefe clash at 8:30, the others at 8.

Hill Pass Stops Elephants, 18-13

Marietta Emerges in Battle Of Unbeatens at Gainesville

By PAUL ATKINSON
Constitution Sports Writer

GAINESVILLE—Marietta quarterback Gary Hill fired a clutch 27-yard pass to towering end Howard Simpson to give the unbeaten Blue Devils their 10th straight win, an 18-13 decision over homestanding Gainesville.

The pass climaxed a 46-yard third-quarter drive by French Johnson Blue Devils. Hill, substituted in a fourth-and-25 situation, lofted the mighty pass down the middle and Simpson., the 6-4 flanker, leaped high in the air at the goal line and pulled it in with 1:29 left in the third quarter. Simpson fought off two Gainesville defenders.

Graham Hixon's Red Elephants took a 7-0 lead in the first quarter. Sideback Preston Riddlehuber, scooped up Marietta's quarterback Johnny Sinclair's fumble at the Marietta 18 and darted across for the touchdown. Quarterback Billy Lochridge booted the point after for a 7-0 lead.

Next in sight, the Marietta Touchdown. Halfback Don Grissom fielded the kickoff at his 15-yard line and zipped up the middle for 85 yards and a touchdown. Bill Wimpee's conversion kick was no good.

Marietta moved ahead midway of the second quarter on a 44-yard drive. Wimpee, the bullish runner in the tough gooey, going up the middle, hit for 25, 2 and 4 yards; Sinclair capped the splurge with a 13-yard touchdown rollout to the left.

Gainesville retaliated swiftly. In less than a minute, the Red Elephants moved ahead 13-12 on a 72-yard trip. Lothridge found flanking back Jimmy Coyle open at the 50 and the swift 150-pounder dashed to the Blue Devil four, completing the 63-yard maneuver. Fullback Bobby Lawson hit the middle for three yards in two tries and Lothridge sneaked in from the one-yard line for the go-ahead touchdown. The touchdown gave Lothridge 79 points for the season.

Marietta got its big touchdown drive going on consecutive keepers of 11, nine, two and six yards by Sinclair. However, after gouging a first down at the Red Elephant 12, Sinclair was thrown for losses of four, four and seven yards, setting up the fourth-and-25 situation which greeted Hill when he arrived to fling his payoff alley opp pass.

Gainesville, with less than two minutes of play, took possession of the ball on the Marietta three, but three incomplete passes by Lothridge and a two-yard run forced the Red Elephants to surrender the ball on downs. Wimpee was the game's leading ground-gainer with 62 yards in 16 carries. Sinclair neted 35 on a similar number of tries.

tice, but should be ready to kick by the kickoff.

Atlanta quarterback Dickie Allen, halfback Doug Partin and Jack Westbrook and fullback Jon MacBeth supply Florida's offensive horsepower, with Captain Dave Hudson, Dan Edgington and Perry McGriff capable pass catchers at end.

Quarterbacks Hunt and Harvard, halfbacks Lamar Rawson and Jimmy Pettus and fullbacks Ed Dyas and Johnny McGeever provide Coach Ralph Jordan's best running, and guard Zeke Smith, center Jack Burkett and tackle Ken Rice lead the path-clearing brigade.

Ends Leo Sexton and Joe Leitchnam are top pass snaggers. The Richard Wood-to-Leichtnam aerial combo that saved Auburn at Gainesville last year, 6-5, is ready for another fling. Hunt and Harvard have excellent pitching credentials.

Both teams are traditionally tough defenders.

Incidentally, Auburn University's "first" captain and alternate captain, Burkett and Rawson, are both from Florida.

Tech Favored Over Duke

Devils averaged a mere 187 up front. According to Murray, however, pre-game stories had Duke outweighing Tech by 13 pounds per man.

The Tech scout reports this year says that this is a typical Duke team, big and strong, specializing in power plays. But Tech is more hefty than usual, and the two teams are virtually a standoff on the scales.

Tech enjoys a distinct advantage in the records. The bowl-minded Engineers have derailed five foes and dropped a 7-6 squaker to powerful Auburn. Duke brings a 2-4 chart into the game. The Blue Devils routed Rice and nipped N.C. State last week, but dropped verdicts to South Carolina, Ohio State, Pittsburgh and Army.

Murray, who has beaten Tech only once, has his Dukes up for this one. The Blue Devils, already eager to stick a fork in Tech, were riled by their homecoming reception at the Flats.

En route to the practice field Friday afternoon the players spotted a sign on fraternity row which a Duke coach might have planted, but didn't, "We'll put up a display," the placard read, "when Duke gets up a team."

Georgia Tech players don't need any signs to remind them that you can't let down your guard in this game. They learned that lesson in New Orleans last week when lightly regarded Tulane blitzed into a 13-0 lead and almost pulled off a startling upset.

Despite the fact that three halfbacks—Cal James, Frank Nix and Kenny Thompson—won't play, the Engineers are enjoying their finest physical condition since the Kentucky battle. Four or more players have missed the last five games.

Duke has scratched ends Claude Moorman and Bob Spada and center Butch Allie for the remainder of the season due to injuries, but the rest of the Blue Devils are ready.

Prospect of rain has the Tech coaches fretting. The Engineers want to throw the football, for they don't anticipate too much success on inside whacks at the giant Duke line. Duke probably won't pitch much rain or shine.

If mud does come up, the Blue Devils will feel right at home, for they trimmed State on a soggy field in Raleigh last week. Tech dropped its lone mud duel to Auburn.

An off track will hamper shifty speedsters on both teams. Tech would like to shake loose Billy Williamsen and Bobby Gene Harris, and Duke hopes sophs Jack Wilson and Joel Arrington can find firm footing. Wilson darted 65 yards with an intercepted pass against State last week. The game will be a homecoming affair for Arrington, a talented Georgian from Thomasville.

Newnan Rips Hapeville

Special to The Constitution

NEWNAN—Jimmy Denney and Joe Burson both scored two touchdowns to spark Newnan to a 31-6 high school football rout over Hapeville here Friday night.

Denny took off on runs of six and nine yards, while Burson scored on a seven yard pass from Tommy Parrott. Denny's six-yard score came with 30 seconds gone in the first quarter.

THE YARDSTICK

NEWNAN (31)		HAPEVILLE (6)
14	First Downs	9
180	Yards Rushing	43
119	Yards Passing	30
65	Yards Penalized	45

Newnan	12	7	6	6	—31
Hapeville	0	0	0	6	—

Newnan Scoring: TDs—Denney 2 (6-run; 9, run), Burson 2 (7, run; 7, pass from Parrott), Ray (30, pass from Smith), PAT—Manget (kick).

Missing Witness Delays Cordell Case

would be "necessary" if the grand jury were going to act on a proposed indictment of Clayton Cordell in the sales tax case.

A Laurens grand jury returned a no-bill in favor of Cordell last July. Solicitor Ward then returned the case to the Fulton solicitor general's office which originally investigated it, and a Fulton grand jury indicted Cordell.

The Fulton indictment charged Cordell with conspiring with Ray and another former sales tax official, W. W. Coleman, in defrauding the state of about $26,000 of the Cordell-Green Motor Co.'s sales tax collections.

Ray and Coleman were indicted in the case last year by a Fulton grand jury. Ray has not been tried; Coleman has been tried on this and four other counts of defrauding the state and is under a six-year sentence.

Judge Rufus I. Stephens, declaring that Laurens County should have jurisdiction of the case, told the grand jury here Monday that it should reinvestigate the matter. And he asked the question, "Whatever became of that fellow Joe Ray—the confessed thief?"

Cadenhead, after spending more than an hour before the jury, said: "I didn't go into anything with the jury that hasn't already been made public."

Cadenhead was in charge of Fulton County's investigation of the case.

Other witnesses Friday were:

Ralph McGill, editor of The Atlanta Constitution; Jack Spalding, editor of The Atlanta Journal; Asst. Atty. Gen. Robert H. Hall, head of the state law department's criminal division; Asst. Atty. Gen. Frank Grimsley of the criminal division; Charles C. Royal Jr., a sales tax auditor from the Augusta office; State Revenue Commissioner Dixon Oxford; Carl Nelson, attorney for Cordell; Jack Nelson, Atlanta Constitution reporter; William S. Peyton, former bookkeeper for Cordell-Green; Y. H. Holmes, Cordell-Green bookkeeper; Ward Brown, restaurant owner.

Purpose of the subpoenas for the newspaper editors was not revealed. Judge Stephens had told the jury in his charge that the Cordell-Green case received undue notoriety, and the judge was critical of the press.

ponent by Dodd. The Blue Devils stress a power game.

FSU, 3-3 for the season, has lost all four of its previous meetings with the Bulldogs.

Tech and Georgia rate as touchdown-or-better favorites.

At Auburn, Ala., the mighty Plainsmen take on Florida in their homecoming special.

Big game of the Southeastern Conference, of course, sends titans Ole Miss and LSU into a head-on collision Saturday night in Baton Rouge. This game carries national as well as regional importance.

Other games involving SEC teams feature Mississippi State at Alabama, Tennessee at North Carolina and Vanderbilt at Minnesota.

Rain or shine, old grads are in for a big day in Georgia.

Fast Ruling Promised In Strike

High Court To Get Arguments Tuesday

before 6 p.m., e.s.t., it issued the order

The court was expected to hand down a decision soon after hearing the orguments Tuesday. The high tribunal never has ruled on the constitutionality of the national emergency provision of the Taft-Hartley law—the key issue in the steel dispute.

All nine Supreme Court justices participated in the session at which the tribunal decided to consider the case. The Supreme Court was the last recourse open to the Steelworkers in their fight against the anti-strike order.

Steelworkers attorney David Feller said the union was "prepared to proceed as the court has directed."

In presenting its petition to the court, the government reversed its previous stand and agreed to let the union continue its strike beyond Monday. The union had made such a request in its petition and the court agreed to it.

The injunction issued by the Pittsburgh federal court and upheld by the Philadelphia appeals court had called for the striking Steelworkers to return to the mills Monday. Now they may continue on strike at least until the Supreme Court rules.

Banker Given 12-Year Term

GREENVILLE, S.C. (UPI)—Luther Clay Elrod, former head of the South Carolina National Bank office here, was sentenced to 12 years in prison for illegal use of about $100,000 in bank funds.

Elrod pleaded guilty to seven counts of a 34-count indictment, including charges that he used bank funds to buy a pickup truck and clothing. He was sentenced by Federal District Judge Wilson Warlick, and the 27 other counts were dropped.

Jury Attacks Alcohol Sales To Minors, Asks Crackdown

their failure to provide psychiatric services has been lack of funds. This jury has seen no evidence that the hospital authority has requested additional funds from the county for this purpose," the presentments declared.

Pointing out that the State Health Department has made $200,000 available to pay for psychiatric services to indigents in this area, the jury said it could see no reason to delay opening of the first 18-bed unit of the ward beyond next January.

The jury's far-reaching presentments also:

1. Called for a "show-down investigation" of the Atlanta Board of Education maintenance department, saying the jury had received a report "of kick-backs in awards of contracts and purchases." The jury, however, gave no details of the report.

2. Urged Revenue Commissioner Dixon Oxford to equalize property tax assessments in Georgia's counties.

3. Recommended that Fulton's tax assessors review assessments made by the state on public utilities in the county.

4. Recommended the enactment of a state withholding tax on salaries similar to the one used by the federal government.

Regarding sale of intoxicants to minors, the grand jury said the police committee "has revoked several permits because of the sale of intoxicants to minors and the offenders have never been indicted for criminal prosecution."

In its recommendations for more stringent regulation of alcoholic beverage sales, the jury called for regular surveillance on all retail outlets selling beer and other intoxicants, especially drive-ins; filing of written reports on evidence of illegal sales with the police department and filing of reports by the solicitor with the police committee on every indictment for illegal sales.

Turks Defy Reds, Allow U.S. Base

By DARRELL GARWOOD

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Turkey, ignoring Soviet threats, has agreed to let the United States establish an Army missile base on its territory to beef up Allied defenses against Russia, the State department announced Friday.

The announcement came shortly after the Defense department cancelled one of the five squadrons of 1,500-mile Air Force Thor missile squadrons scheduled for Britain. No specific reason was given but the cancellation coincided with a cutback in Thor production.

The Defense department said only that the cancellation "represents an adjustment of programs that assures a balanced use of available resources to meet current needs."

The Pentagon said Thor production by the Douglas Aircraft Co., Santa Monica, Calif., would be "phased down immediately." However, it said limited output would continue to meet "special requirements" by the Pentagon and Civilian Space Agency.

Turkey became the third NATO country to accept U.S. missile bases despite warnings by Soviet Premier Khrushchev that it would be courting annihilation in event of war. Khrushchev made similar threats against Greece and Itaiy.

Greece, along with France, has refused to accept any U.S. missile squadrons. But Italy is scheduled to receive two 1,500-mile Jupiter squadrons, just like the one now slated to be set up on Turkish territory.

West Germany made it plain it was not willing to enter into such agreements and negotiations never even got underway. Talks with other NATO countries were dropped when they indicated opposition to the bases.

Interest-Earning Law For State Considered

have the best highway department in the country as it stands now."

Vandier told his news conference Friday that he believed the recommendation for a chief engineer could be effected by board action and would not require legislation.

The governor emphasized that the commission's plan left the Highway Board with its policy-making power intact.

In still another reorganization matter, Corrections Director Jack M. Forrester came up with his own plans for changing the structure of his department.

Forrester, who has been critical of a program of sweeping changes prepared by R. A. Chappell, nationally known penologist, and endorsed by the Atlanta Crime Commission, said his plan was worked out before Chappell's.

Forrester's plan calls for four administrative assistants: for welfare and education, for engineering and industries, for classification and custody, and for finance and purchasing.

He said it would take $50,000 to $75,000 to institute but would save money in the long run.

On another matter, Forrester recommended to the Board of Corrections a change in diet for prisoners placed in isolation for punishment.

At present, these isolated prisoners are fed bread and water three times a day with a full meal every five days. Under the new proposal, they would be given oatmeal or a suitable substitute, dry toast and black coffee for breakfast. Dinner and supper menus would consist of assorted vegetables and soup, both seasoned only with salt; bread and water or black coffee.

The director also recommended continuation of daily physical examinations of these prisoners in isolation.

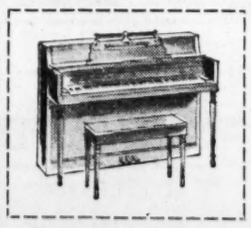

Humphrey Asks New Atom Ban

(Copyright 1959, The New York Times Co.)

WASHINGTON — Senator Humphrey (D-Minn) called Friday night for another one-year suspension of nuclear tests.

During that year, he proposed, the United States should adopt a new negotiating position aimed at winning Soviet agreement to an enforceable ban on all explosions with a yield of over five kilotons.

Flirt, Magpie, Gossip Top Boys' List of Date Peeves

Today's campus cutie must play it "cool" to rate as a date.

And trying too hard to gain the eye of a BMOC is a sure way to be passed by when he's passing out invitations for an after-game dance or Sunday movie matinee.

Atlanta teen date experts—teen-age boys—condemn attention-getters, show-offs, girls who wear too much makeup and exaggerated clothes, those who "put on," play the phoney intellectual, or who act "sophisticated."

The too-alluring type with the flirty-flirty eyes seldom gets the nod from date-seekers, either.

LESSER OF TWO EVILS

The chatterbox who goes in for gossip will make the list of girls-I-don't-want-to-date in most schools. Conversation causes consternation on many occasions, and boys are divided as to whether "too much" or "not enough" talk is the lesser of two evils. The ultra-quiet type makes her date uncomfortable, while the magpie miss is branded that most fatal of all tags, a bore.

Girls who are "friendly, but not too friendly," and who can chat easily (but above all, sincerely) rate high on the list of desirable dates. Top-rated topics of conversation include sports events and school work. The girl should always participate, but never dominate, the conversation. "Yak-yak" about other boys she's dated, where they went, how much fun they had, is strictly taboo.

Most boys prefer double dates, provided the feminine duo of the foursome doesn't turn it into a hen party.

"When the two girls start whispering to each other, and giggling, that gets on my nerves more than anything else," declared Jack Aaron, captain of the Forest Park football team.

Paying too much attention to the other girl's date instead of her own is always the "kiss of death," datewise.

Cost of an average evening ranges from fifty cents for a "just riding around and talking" date, to $5 for a movie-and-dinner afterward, to $10 for a really special evening, which is usually reserved for a steady's birthday. Most students limit the financial output to $1.75.

"I'm pretty good at keeping the cost of a date under $5," Jack related.

Finding a decent place to take girls is still the primary problem of the campus clan.

"They're a lot of places we could go," Jack explained, "but most of them attract the greaseheads, the tough-talking guys with long hair and no manners."

Forest Park students flock to a local hangout, where the prices are reasonable, the atmosphere is friendly, and "you don't have to worry about being embarrassed by someone else."

TOP ATTRACTION

School sports events, usually with a dance afterwards, and monthly socials of service clubs are the top date attractions, with movies following a close second. Drive-in restaurants are also near the top in popularity.

Earl Jackson, president of the Junior class at Druid Hills High School, reports that bowling is growing in popularity among students in that area.

"The only drawback," Earl added, "is the expense. It usually costs $1 per game for a boy and his date, and most people want to play more than one game."

LOCAL HIGH SCHOOL EDITORS INTERVIEW SINGING STAR

Sarah Jean Butler, Avondale; Fabian; Mike McClannahan, Russell

Fabian Shrugs Off Shadows Of 'Mystery' Personality

By BETTY CARROLLTON

The record world's "mystery" personality has come of the so-called shadows that surround him. And the only mystery remaining about Fabian, the Fabulous, is why he's supposedly such a mystery.

Blasted by critics as a singer who can't sing (although his income from hit disc sales has reached the five-figure bracket), he's hailed by some as the most likely successor to the throne of Elvis Presley in the teen idol kingdom.

Fabian set the record straight for Atlanta fans this week during a personal appearance here in connection with his first movie, "Hound Dog Man," currently showing at the Fox Theater.

NO FEUD

The husky 16-year-old, a soft-spoken, good-mannered youth with an engaging grin, said that reports of a feud between him and Frankie Avalon, another Philadelphia singing sensation, are just as untrue as stories that Frankie is responsible for Fabian's success.

"Frankie and I are good friends," he declared, "but we didn't go to school together. He was a couple of years ahead of me. And the only person responsible for my career (in addition to the fans, of course), is my manager, Bob Marcucci."

Reams of copy, most of it untrue, has been written about the youth, covering everything from his discovery by the president of Chancellor Records, to a supposedly "unhappy and dissatisfied" home life.

"I try to ignore most of it," the singer declared. "I read the reviews for constructive criticism. The rest I try to forget."

His unhappiness at home has been confined to the heart attack his father suffered a couple of years ago. Otherwise, the Forte household, Fabian insists, is a happy, closely knit unit.

"Dad is feeling fine now," he continued.

Admittedly his career takes him away from home more often than he likes.

The Fortes will soon move into a new house in New Jersey, and Fabian's earnings will help pay for the home.

MISSED NOTHING

His career hasn't taken him away from anything.

"After all," he pointed out, "I was only 14. At 14, how much can you have missed?"

It's true he no longer goes to public school. Now, like most other young stars, he has two tutors. He finds studying "a little harder" than in school, but is making good grades.

When he's home, Fabian enjoys most of the same activities Atlanta teens favor, especially "pailing around" with his buddies. Admittedly, some of his friends razz him about his fans' reactions, but he observes "those who give me a hard time aren't really my buddies."

He has no steady girl, but believes the question of going steady should be left up to the individuals involved. He enjoys going to the movies with a girl friend. A good dancer, he likes to attend sobhops, but this is limited now. "It's a little hard to go to a dance without causing a stir," Fabina said.

An even - tempered young man, Fabian chooses most of his own clothes, often with the guidance of his manager, who is his constant traveling companion. He shows amazingly good taste, leans toward conservative clothes. Of course, more color is necessary for his stage appearances.

He's suffered at the hands of fans, including having his face clawed by too-eager young women seeking his autograph, and getting his clothes practically ripped off his back. (In Atlanta, Fabian's raincoat disappeared into the mass of teen-age fans. He hopes it will be returned because "I need it.") But the singer is neither embarrassed nor critical of his fans.

"I'm just grateful they like me," he said. "And the best part of it is that since they're teen-agers, they'll grow up with me."

Parliamentary Procedure Class Set by Students

The Library Club at Campbell High School in Fairburn will sponsor its fifth class in parliamentary procedure on Wednesday, Nov. 14.

Faculty members report that the annual event, which has "become a must for club officers," is showing far-reaching effects, "not only in school organizations, but also in civic and church affairs."

Officers of community organizations are invited to share with the teen-agers the leadership and teaching of Mrs. Murray Howard of Atlanta, who will again serve as instructor. Mrs. Howard has had years of experience as a parliamentarian and is considered an authority by state and national organizations.

Students in charge of arrangements include Annette Varnadoe, Johnny Noles, Bobbie Hewatt, Paul Hindman and Dot Turner.

GHOUL MORNING TO YOU—Feeling utterly bewitching this Howl-oween morning. Athena Shaver manages to outnumber Eve's four faces by a long shot. With the help of the Constitution photographer Wiley Perry and artist Johnny Williamson, Athena is aghast, a ghoul aggravated by the haunting habits of Halloween. The eerie witches of Macbeth couldn't have brewed up more trouble for this bedeviled beauty than this fiendish Fury of an alter ego has conjured up herself—with the help of a spookish slicer. No mere broomstick flying witch, Stygian sorcerer or goblins that "git you if you don't watch out" could be more harrowing to our Halloween honey after this tangled web of intrigue and gore that she has weaved for herself. No Juliet was so ill-fated to have herself under the knife. And what a hair-raising experience to have yourself by the hair ready to tack a butcherous blow at a throaty target that seems to have supernaturally disappeared. The apparitions of these first two pictures seem to have set off mixed reaction in the many mobile faces of Atlanta's Athena. But there seems to be hope that Halloween, 1959, won't be a howling horror in the memory of Athena. See that smiling face in the upper right corner? Perheps all of this is merely a hoax to evade the demoniac tortures some Evil Eye of the evening might have in store. Maybe tomorrow morning won't be such a "ghoul morning."

Brandons To Host The Kingston Trio

Atlanta has a special interest in the Kingston Trio of San Francisco who will give a concert this evening as a feature of Georgia Tech's home-coming festivities, for one of their number Robert Schoen, is married to Atlanta's Louise Brandon.

Mrs. Schoen has been the guest for several weeks of her parents, the Inman Brandons at their Arden road home where she will be joined today by her husband. After the concert tonight, Mr. parents, the Inman Brandons at their Arden road home, where she Schoens and other members of the trio.

ANOTHER EVENT SET FOR TONIGHT is the Halloween party at which Mrs. Hazel Roy Butler will be hostess in honor of Carole Jo Mouchet and her fiance, George Eubank.

The party will get under way at The Castle at ten o'clock, and it has been labeled a "bal masque," for guests will come in costume or at least in masks. Members of the Artists' Assembly will assist in entertaining, and musicians, both vocal and instrumental, will vie with Halloween spooks for the spotlight. Among Mrs. Butler's guests will be some of Atlanta's most gifted artists, and they will make their own music.

At midnight a buffet supper will be served to 75 guests, and merrymaking will continue until one a.m.

LYNN SNYDER and her good friend, Patti Barth, drove up from Rollins College yesterday to send the weekend with Lynn's parents, the Wilson Kemps of Westminster drive. Today the pair will go to Athens for the Georgia-Florida State game and to take part in the home-coming festivities. Both are sophomores and Chi Omegas at Rollins.

THOUGH HER PARENTS, the Ben T. Smiths, left Thursday for a South American tour, Eleanor Smith arrived yesterday from the University of North Carolina and is spending the weekend with her aunt, Miss Judy King, at the latter's new home on Mt. Paran road. Eleanor will be among the football fans heading for Athens today for the game and the Georgia home-coming gaiety.

THE SEASON'S DEBUTANTES are as busy as bees this weekend, with their presentation at the Driving Club's Halloween ball highlighting their program, of course. After the rehearsal for the ball late yesterday, they gathered at the Maynard Smith home on W. Wesley road for a cocktail party in honor of debutante Penny Reinsch, and tomorrow they will be luncheon guests of the William Schroders and the Hughes Schroders who will entertain for their debutante niece, Suzanne Schroder. This party will be held at the William Schroder home on Habersham road.

Tomorrow afternoon, most of the debs will be catching planes and trains back to school.

THIS HAS BEEN A BUSY WEEK for the Phi Delta Thetas at Emory for they have moved into the new chapter house that replaces one that burned in 1958. The boys are christening the new house with a reception this afternoon for the students, and one tomorrow for the Emory faculty, administration staff and alumni. The calling hours for both days are from two to five o'clock.

Among guests expected on Sunday are Gov. Ernest Vandiver, a Phi Delta Theta alumnus, and Henry L. Bowden, chairman of the Emory board of trustees, Mrs. Vandiver and Mrs. Bowden.

A conversation piece at both parties will be the Phi Delta Theta tablecloth made by Mrs. B. F. Miller of Decatur, president of the fraternity's Mothers' Club.

A GALA HARVEST MOON BALL is set for this evening to initiate the fall season for the Single Adult League. The ball will be held at the Briarcliff Hotel penthouse, with dancing from 9 to 12 o'clock.

TWO MEDICAL FRATERNITIES at Emory, Alpha Kappa Kappa and Phi Chi, have pledged a number of Atlanta freshmen. Phi Chi pledges are Clayton Callaway Jr., John Chidsey Jr., S. H. Yarbrough III, Douglas Shelton, W. Dallas Hall, Ellis L. Jones, Juha P. Kokko, Charles W. McRae, J. P. Thompson, Clarence Torrance and Ben Thebaut Jr.

Alpha Kappa Kappa pledges are Ruel McMillian, Charles Johnson and David M. Rowland.

TEEN-AGE MAIL

He Wasn't Worthy of Her Love

By DOROTHY RICKER

Dear Mrs. Ricker:

I am writing to you because I am confused, doubtful and headed for heartbreak. My former boy friend and I are no longer a "twosome" because I refused his proposal of marriage several times. I refused because he was just recently discharged from the service and is still unemployed. It seemed to me that he did not realize the seriousness of marriage and wanted to jump into it hastily without any serious plans.

As a result we have drifted apart and I fear losing him completely. Lately he has been dating another girl quite regularly. Mrs. Ricker, am I wrong in wanting to wait until we are financially able to make a decent start? If he should become engaged to this other girl, it will make me heartsick. Please tell me if I am wrong and what you think I should do.

Judging by your letter and the mature way you approached this problem I believe you are an older teen-ager who already knows the answers to your questions. However, since you asked for advice, let's look at the situation coldly and logically. Here is a boy who is not working, so he obviously cannot support a wife—yet he proposed marriage. The first thing he should do is to find work so he can be financially able to make a decent start.

Has he proven his 'love' for you? Did he try to understand your reasons for wanting to postpone your marriage? No! Instead, still jobless, he quickly found another girl.

My advice is to try to forget him as quickly as possible and be thankful for your "escape"—you might have married him and had serious reasons to be "heartsick." Best wishes.

Dear Mrs. Ricker:

I like a boy named Johnnie. I have known him for two years. He is 14 and I am four months older. At times he acts a little childish but very seldom when I am around him. He is nice and well-mannered.

My problem is that my two girl friends keep ridiculing him because he likes to go into the woods and practice shooting with a bow and arrow. I don't see anything childish about his hobby, do you? It seems the girls will not be satisfied until they make me dislike Johnnie.

Your girl friends obviously do not know anything about archery and they shouldn't run Johnnie down because he is interested in it. It is NOT a "sissy" sport. If he is seriously interested in archery, he must be quite strong. It takes a lot of strength, and skill, to handle a bow with a 40-pound "pull"—or even one with a 25-pound "pull."

My advice is to tell your girl friends they might just as well stop ridiculing Johnnie because you do like him and their attitude is not going to influence you.

Paintings of 100 Atlanta Artists Will Be Offered for Sale Sunday

By YOLANDE GWIN

If you are a bargain hunter—and everybody is if they will only admit it—you can pick up some rare paintings during the next two weeks.

And who knows, one day you might discover to your delight that you have a masterpiece like the Mona Lisa or a famous Madonna by Raphael.

But for the time being works from some 100 regular artists of the Atlanta Art Assn. will be up for sale at the Browse, Borrow and Buy Gallery beginning Sunday at 2 p.m. The sale, or, technically, the auction of the paintings, will continue through Nov. 15, at which time the lucky bidder will haul a painting home for keeps.

This auction is held minus the droning of the professional auctioneer's voice. It is a different type in that it is given the silent treatment by the prospective buyers.

Minimum prices have been placed on each painting by the artists, who, according to officials of the BBB Gallery, have a universal tendency to undervalue their work.

So, say a painting is priced at $25. Mrs. Bargain Hunter comes by, sees it and likes it.

"H'mm, I'd pay more than THAT," she says to herself. So she ups the price, say $26 or even $30, and marks her price and name on the paper placed beside the painting. This procedure goes on until the two weeks are over and the person posting the highest price for the painting is the owner.

This current bid or auction sale is being held to coincide with the third birthday of the BBB Gallery. Paintings are always available for renting, too, and for those art enthusiasts who prefer to have a change of scene or mood in their homes, they can rent one of the many oils, pastels, polymera tempera or drawings which are always on display at the gallery.

It is interesting to note that the BBB is one of the city's first art galleries. It has grown steadily through the years and now has about five selected shows annually. Artists exhibiting receive 80 per cent of the selling price of the painting, while the gallery gets 20 per cent. During the bid sale the artist and the gallery split 50-50.

Yesterday, Mrs. Granger Hansell, president of the Atlanta Art Assn., asked a group to serve on the policy committee for the BBB Gallery.

Harold Patterson was named chairman and others include Mrs. Ernest Felber, Mrs. John Appleby, Mrs. I. E. Soporta, Mrs. Samuel Hirsch, Mrs. Archer B. Greisen, Miss Kathleen Wright, Charles Jagels, Henri Jova and George Ramey.

Proceeds from these sales are poured into a cultural cup to be served on one of the year's artistic menus. For instance, last year it went to pay for a visiting professor of art for the institute and to the Atlanta Art Assn. for supporting a special show and to defray other costs of administration.

The bid sale and auction beginning Sunday, Nov. 1, is open to the public.

Miss Goodner To Wed Charles Nall on Nov. 7

The Rev. C. E. Milton of Savannah will officiate when Mary Ann Goodner becomes the bride of Charles Ledbetter Nall at 5:30 o'clock on Saturday, Nov. 7, at the First Baptist Church of Nahunta.

After the ceremony, Mrs Thomas S. Goodner will be hostess at a reception in the church parlors.

The bride-elect will be attended by her sister, Mrs. Dorothy G. Graham, as matron of honor, and her nieces, Dera Ann and Jane Goodner of Birmingham, as junior bridesmaids.

Children in the wedding will be Ann Healey of Atlanta as flower girl, and John Goodner as ring bearer.

Howard M. Cone of New York will serve as best man for his brother-in-law, and seating the wedding guests will be Robert A. Nelson of New Orleans, Bill Goodner of Birmingham, Dennis Ledbetter of Sarasota, and Harold Ledbetter of Adel.

Lois Cason of Atlanta will keep the bride's book and assisting in entertaining at the reception will be Rita Garner and Mrs. Ralph S. Healey of Atlanta, Mrs. Dennis Ledbetter of Sarasota and Mrs. Harold Ledbetter of Adel.

On Sunday Miss Goodner and her fiance will be honor guests at a dinner party to be given by the Ralph S. Healeys at their Powers Ferry road home, and on Friday evening the future bridegroom's aunt, Mrs. Abit Nix of Tifton, will be hostess for the rehearsal party in Waycross.

Mr. and Mrs. J. Allen Thompson will entertain at cocktails on Nov. 21 after the bridal couple returns from their honeymoon. Mrs. J. Low Zachry, Mrs. Chester A. Williams, Mrs. J. D. Griffin, Mrs. Mary Arnold, Helen Stacey, Rita Garner, Louise Gray, Lois Cason and Mrs. R. W. Donaldson have already entertained for the couple.

B'nai B'rith To Sponsor Ethics Panel

A panel discussion on morals and ethics of dating will be presented on Sunday afternoon at the Jewish Community Center by the J. A. G. chapter of the B'nai B'rith Girls. Miss Renee Michael is president.

Miss Joyce Hershberg, citizenship chairman for the club will be moderator. Taking part will be Mrs. Harry Pett and Mrs. James Wild, representing the mothers, and Miss Sherry Hershberg and Miss Elaine Levine representing the daughters.

Electronics' Gains Feature Wild Mart

NEW YORK (AP)—A 10½-point jump by Zenith Radio and wide gains by other electronics featured a mixed and turbulent stock market. Trading was heavy.

American Motors continued actively traded and was up 2¼, while Studebaker-Packard common headed the list of 15 most active stocks and fell 1⅛ to 24⅜.

The buoyancy of the electronics group, based on Washington pronouncements this week which omened continued big spending on missiles and space enterprises, seemed to inspire the list near the end. Steels recovered from a dragging decline and posted a string of gains.

Rails still lagged, however, and for the fifth straight day diverged from the industrials, which were up slightly. Dow theory chartists cluck-clucked at this, saying it boded no good for the market as a whole.

Zenith's rise put the closing price at 112¾. Market technicians said there was no special news but that when Zenith broke through an upside barrier at 106 on its chart, the stock was due for a wide move.

While the Taft-Hartley injunction in the steel strike pended adjudication by the U.S. Supreme Court, General Motors layoffs continued to soar because of steel shortages. Although GM said its car production is facing "a virtual standstill," the stock rose ¼.

Bethlehem, notwithstanding its lowest quarterly earnings in history, rose ⅛. U.S. Steel picked up ½. Youngstown Sheet recouped 2. Chrysler rebounded 2¾ from recent wide losses.

Beans, Oats Blast Off

CHICAGO (AP)—Soybean dealers bid prices up two cents or more a bushel. Grains were steady to strong with oats leading that group on advances running to well over a cent a bushel. A higher market for soybean meal and belief that offers to deliver soybeans on November commitments in the pit would be relatively small sparked soybeans.

U.S. Urged To Lower Import Bars

TOKYO, (AP)—The United States, now asking other nations to admit more American goods, was urged Friday to lower barriers against foreign farm products.

Several nations attacked U.S. agricultural import restrictions and farm price supports in a closed session of the world trade-regulating body known as the general agreement on tariffs and trade.

MEMBERS NAMED

It was learned they included Canada, Denmark, Australia, South Africa and New Zealand.

Most of these nations want to sell dairy products to the United States.

An Australian source said, "on a price basis we could outsell American dairy products, but because of (U.S.) quantity restrictions, we can't."

COMMUNIQUE FOLLOWED

The closed session followed a communique by 37 GATT nations declaring, among over things, that expanded agricultural trade and reducing protectionism on farm products "should be neergetically pursued." Delegates to the annual meeting created a committee to study how America is applying a GATT waiver agreeing to U.S. farm protectionism despite conflict with free trade principles of GATT.

It is a foregone conclusion the waiver will continue since American imports quotas on wheat, cotton, rye, flaxseed, linseed oil, peanuts, peanut oil, tung oil and dairy products are required by the U.S. Agricultural Adjustment Act.

Butter and Eggs

ATLANTA EGG MARKET (USDA-GDA)

Air Brake's Income Takes 115 Pct. Leap

PITTSBURGH, (AP) — Westinghouse Air Brake Co. and its subsidiaries Friday reported net income for the third quarter of 1959 increased 115 per cent over the same period in 1958.

Net income amounted to $2,980,398, or 71 cents a share, for the third quarter ended Sept. 30. This compares with net income of $1,363,607, or 3 cents a share, in the same period in 1958.

For the nine-month period ended Sept. 30 consolidated net income was $7,663,748, equivalent to $1.82 a share, compared with $6,276,017, or $1.50 a share, for the same period in 1958.

The company reported a backlog of $90,970,000 in orders and added that notwithstanding the adverse effects of the steel strike operations for the fourth quarter of 1959 will exceed earnings reported for the last quarter of 1958.

Melchizedek Represents The Eternal

QUESTIONS: Will you explain a verse that puzzles me? In Hebrews 7:3 the Bible says about a man named Melchizedek that he was "without father, without mother, without beginning of days or end of life." How could such a person be when we know that by natural processes, all must have parents?—D. C.

ANSWER: There are two possible explanations for this very unusual verse. One is that his genealogy was never recorded, and therefore to all people he had no family or relatives. The other explanation is that this mysterious person, Melchizedek, was one of the appearances of Christ before the Christian era. Either explanation is possibly true, but the importance of this scripture is that whoever this Old Testament personality may have been (Genesis 14:17-24), the inspired writer of Hebrews cited him as a priest who represented Christ more than the regular Levitical priest of the Hebrew form of worship. Melchizedek represented the eternal.

Jesus Christ is God's appointed priest and mediator, for the Bible says, "There is one God, and one mediator between God and man, the man Christ Jesus." (II Timothy 2:5.) He is like Melchizedek in this way: Wherefore He is able to save to the uttermost (complete and to the very end) them that come unto God by Him, seeing that He very liveth to make intercession for them." (Hebrews 7:25.)

Sugar Futures

NEW YORK (AP)—World sugar futures eased on scattered liquidation and hedging. The reaction in part reflected sagging tendencies in the world price for current crop Cuban raw sugar for delivery this year. Belgium bought a cargo of Cuban raws from French operators at a price of about 2.97 cents a pound f.a.s. This was three points under the official world spot price of Thursday.

World raws were quoted at 2.97 cents a pound f.a.s. Cuba.

Domestic futures were unchanged.

There were no sales reported in the domestic raw market.

Demand for refined was fair with buyers not using up their inventories built up this year prior to the latest refiner sugar price increase.

Farm Product Prices Lowest Since 1940

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Agriculture Department reported Friday that prices of farm products declined nearly 1⅔ per cent between mid-September and mid-October.

This decline put farm product prices at the lowest level since August, 1940, in comparison with the level of prices paid by farmers for items used in production and family living.

Primarily responsible for the decline were lower prices for cattle, hogs, corn, grapefruit, calves and eggs. Partially offsetting these declines were price increases for milk, tomatoes and wheat. The mid-October level was 6 per cent below a year earlier.

Atlanta Produce

Trading was fairly good during Thursday and light early Friday morning on the Atlanta produce market at Forest Park, according to the A.M.S. Receipts were light to moderate; Georgia and Florida vegetables were in limited supply; lighter supplies of greens were generally slightly stronger. Russet potatoes also averaged slightly higher in price with market firm. Florida oranges were slightly weaker and jobbed 2.25-2.35 per half box carton. Grapefruit held steady and unchanged. Apples also were steady with offerings liberal. Florida lugs of avocados brought 1.75-2.25, mostly 2.00 per lug.

North Carolina cabbage was unchanged at mostly 2.00-2.25 per bag, few best 2.35, and some 50-pound crates for 2.35-2.50. Sweet potatoes were steady at recent prices. Few Florida snap beans brought 5.50 bushel and poles 7.00. Yellow crookneck squash was scarce and unsettled for 6.00-9.00 bushel, mostly around 7.00; few butterbeans mostly fair sold at 3.25-3.50 bushel and field peas, purple hulls few 2.00-2.25. Florida cucumbers advanced slightly to range of 3.50-4.25 bushel, few to 4.50, and some Georgia fair quality were offered at 2.00-2.50.

Florida eggplant was 3.00-3.25 bushel and some Georgia mostly fair stock 2.00-2.50. Florida crates of fancy yellow corn brought 2.50, few 2.75, and fair 2.00, with best white, few 3.75. Bunched turnips brought from 1.50 to 2.25 dozen and collards 1.50-1.75 dozen; mustard supplies were cleaned up; turnip greens sold 1.40-1.75 per bushel in job lots.

A Negro workman was killed Friday when buried under several tons of materials used in the manufacture of concrete blocks, police said.

He was Eddie B. Harge, 22, of Social Circle.

Sgt. J. E. Helms said Harge was one of a crew of three who were working in a conveyor tunnel at the Atlanta Aggregate Co. Harge went to the top of the tunnel to find why the flow of aggregate had slowed down.

When he failed to return, another member of the crew went to search for him. Helms said the searcher found a rod which Harge had been using to dislodge aggregate in an opening leading to the tunnel and notified his superintendent who called police and firemen.

The body was recovered later buried under tons of the lightweight material, Helms said.

Posey To Face Georgia Courts

JACKSONVILLE, Fla., (AP)—Richard A. Posey, 41, was ordered returned to Georgia Friday to face charges of robbing the Jones County Bank of Haddock of $20,000 Oct. 20.

Posey was arersted here Oct. 22 after several persons told police he was flashing an unusual amount of money.

Thursday a U.S. commissioner ordered him held for trial in Macon, and Friday district court Judge Bryan Simpson issued a removal order.

Man Killed In Auto Crash

WINDER (AP)—A 42-year-old man was killed Friday night in a head-on collision near here.

The State Patrol identified the victim as Barnum Miller of Bethlehem, a community between Monroe and Winder.

Rutherford Ellis Heads Cancer Board

Rutherford L. Ellis of Atlanta was elected chairman of the board of directors of the American Cancer Society in New York Friday. He succeeds Walter J. Kohler, former governor of Wisconsin.

Dr. Elliott Scarborough, director of Emory University's Winship Clinic, was reelected to the board. Other Georgians on the board are Arthur L. Montgomery, president of the Atlanta Coca-Cola Bottling Co., and Dr. Enoch Callaway, director of West Georgia Cancer Clinic at LaGrange.

235,000 Troops

BONN, Germany (AP) — West Germany's military forces total 235,000, two-thirds of its planned strength, the Defense Ministry announced Wednesday. Full strength of 350,000 is expected by 1963.

Astrological Forecast

By CARROLL RIGHTER
Author of the book "Astrology and You"

GENERAL TENDENCIES: The early part of the day is fine for accepting a chance to work along even more actively and patiently toward long range goals and ambitions. However, the later day is no time to take any chances, but rather is fine for winding up whatever you have already commenced but which requires more effort to efficiently complete.

Aries (March 21 to April 19). See that your taxes are taken care of. Taurus (April 20 to May 20). Do your best to prevent an argument between a family tie and a close friend. Gemini (May 21 to June 21). It is possible now to labor vigorously and accomplish a great deal.

Moon Children (June 22 to July 21). Entertain with wit. Leo (July 22 to Aug. 21). Labor with vitality and purpose. Virgo (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22). Do not get frustrated or nervous.

Libra (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22). Try to cooperate financial life with emotional desires more intelligently. Scorpio (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21). Read your newspaper for ideas. Sagittarius (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21). Put serious work aside and be off with friends for a delightful evening of fun and frolic.

Capricorn (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20). Keep that influential adviser apart from acquaintance who shows pettiness, or you lose out. Aquarius (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19). Don't be drawn into a quarrel with officer because of associate. Pisces (Feb. 20 to March 20). Be broad-minded. Start uptrend.

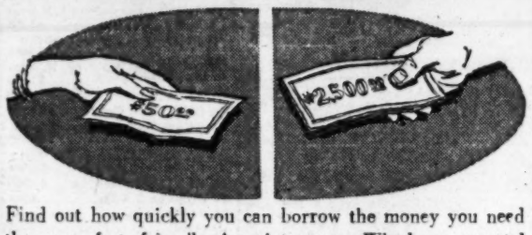

LaGrange Gets $204,600 Grant

WASHINGTON — The Department of Health, Education and Welfare has approved a grant of $204,600 to LaGrange for sewer system improvements.

The project includes construction of a secondary sewage treatment plant and interceptor and outfall sewers at a total estimated cost of $690,000 in federal and local funds.
